Local Government Must Modernize

V. I. Minahan Calls on Business To Help Make State Attractive

BY JAMES BARTELT
Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN LAKE — Businessmen, who are supposed to know the most about saving dollars through organization, are not meeting their responsibility in lending this ability toward modernizing local government.

This description of a present problem and a call for business and industry to start helping to solve it as a means of making Wisconsin more attractive to new industrial investment was presented Thursday by Victor I. Minahan, editor of the Appleton Post-Crescent, to the annual Governor's Conference on Industrial Development.

The closing session of the two-day conference attended by about 300 local development officials also heard an explanation of the Kennedy administration's proposed law to give tax incentives for new investment from a Department of Commerce deputy secretary.

No Longer Topic
Minahan said the modernization of local government is no longer a topic for political scientists to discuss in ivory towers. It should have particular interest to persons trying to get Wisconsin new industry, he said.

"The efficiency of local government has a lot to do with attracting industry. Keeping industry you have, and the type of community you have. Waste of any kind is a handicap to getting business. Tax dollars are in-

Post-Crescent Covers Several Special Events

Events that make important news don't happen only in one's own backyard. A newspaper sincere in its determination to give its readers first hand reports about such newsworthy events makes a special effort to "cover" them with its own staff.

Appleton Post-Crescent readers will find several articles about out-of-area events in this evening's edition reported by news service staff writers.

They include the annual meeting of the Wisconsin Pulp and Paper Information Service at Wisconsin Rapids, which considered the impact of European paper production on that of the United States; the eighth District Republican caucus and the 33rd annual Fox River Valley and Lake Shore Safety Conference at Green Bay, and the Governor's Conference on Industrial Development, including an address by Editor V. I. Minahan, at Green Lake.

Cubans Fail To Agree on Castro Offer

Favor Acceptance But Differ on Method of Action

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Cuban exiles today favored taking up Fidel Castro's offer to free invasion captives for 500 American bulldozers, but they differed on who should do it.

The Revolutionary Schoolteachers Directorate said, "We accept Fidel Castro's challenge, but it will not be President Kennedy but the people of Cuba who will send the bulldozers."

A Cuban editor in exile had a different reaction.

Favors U. S. Action

Sergio Carbo, editor of Prensa Libre, said the United States should take up Castro's offer at once.

"All free citizens of the Americas have faith that Mr. Kennedy will take Castro's offer into consideration without delay," Carbo said.

Cuba holds about 1,000 men, mostly Cuban exiles, captured in the abortive April 17 invasion. Equipment dealers say 500 bulldozers would cost $5 million to $27 million, depending on the model chosen.

Jose Miro Cardona, president of the Cuban Revolutionary Council which recruited the invasion force, asked the International Red Cross to look into the Castro proposal.

New Line in Congo

U. N. Troops Taking Positions Between 2 North Katanga Towns

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (AP)—Strong units of U.N. Malayans and Indian troops are securing a strategic 200-mile line between the North Katanga towns of Kabalo and Albertville, the United Nations reported today.

"This has been an area of the Congo where there has been frequent tribal friction and where the danger of civil war has been considerable," a U.N. spokesman said.

It is hoped, he said, that the presence of U.N. troops along this line will be sufficient to maintain peace in the region.

Military Drive

Katanga Province's President, Moise Tshombe, now a prisoner of the central government, United Nations over the move launched a military operation there last month in a bid to wrest control of the region from Baluba tribesmen who had set up their own state in North Katanga.

Attacks on Baluba villages by headquarters in Leopoldville and Tshombe's army were frequent at that time. Since U.N. troops have moved into the representative in Elisabethville, area there have been no recent reports of clashes, the U.N. spokesman said.

U.N. troops are concentrated in the main towns along the Kabalo-Albertville highway, which forms a vital communications artery in North Katanga.

Moves Not Resisted

"There has been no resistance to the U.N. moves from the Katanga army and no military friction," U.N. sources confirmed that Indian or Malayan troops had taken over the airstrips at Albertville and Nyunzu and said there was "danger of a clash at Nyunzu, where Indian troops are now taking over from the Malaysians."

They said Katanga forces apparently have withdrawn from Albertville.

Full Military Government In Charge; Head of Junta Expects Support of U. S.

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—President Yun Po-sun has resigned, a presidential secretary announced today.

The development was reported as military rule prevailed again in South Korea.

A statement issued to newsmen over Yun's name said "I regret that I made so little contribution to the nation that a military revolution has occurred."

Yun was the only constitutional official left in office after a military coup this week seized power and forced the resignation of Premier John M. Chang.

Censorship Imposed

Yun's resignation, which was confirmed by spokesmen reached by telephone at the presidential palace, followed by one day Premier Chang's capitulation and resignation.

Under the South Korean form of government, the premier exercised the real ruling power and the president was a figurehead chief of state.

Remove Sand From Well To Seek Body

NAMPA, Idaho (AP)—Rescue workers were finally ready to begin hauling sand out of a well today, not knowing when or just where they would find a farmer who was buried.

The sand, caving away from the walls, buried 63-year-old Herbert A. Tieg's Wednesday as he worked 160 feet down in the irrigation well he was digging on one of his farms in southwest Idaho.

Though hope for his life was abandoned, the rescue work continued.

The entire hole was lined with 20-inch steel casing Thursday so that a man could descend safely. Each new section of casing had to be welded to the one beneath it. The resulting tube finally hit the sand below at a depth of 161 feet.

Long Session

Then workers assembled two lengths of pipe, screwing them together joint by joint, and lowered them into the hole to carry the compressed air in and the sand out.

The entire chore wasn't finished until moments before midnight. Then and only then was John Scheufele, a Morrison-Knudson Co. construction worker from Boise, Idaho, lowered to the sand to make preparations for blasting it out.

One of the rescue workers on the scene, Dan Sloan of Caldwell, Idaho, said admiringly: "The men on it have been going since morning, but they won't quit."

Kennedy Signs Judgeships Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy today signed legislation creating 73 new federal judgeships.

Kennedy put his signature to the bill in a White House ceremony attended by a group of legislators who were interested in passage of the judgeships measure.

He used 10 pens and distributed them to those on hand for the ceremony.

With 73 new judgeships and 22 present vacancies, Kennedy will have more judicial appointments to make than any other President at one time.

This is a sore spot with Republicans. Some of them have charged the Democratic-controlled congress with creating more judgeships than necessary in order to provide Kennedy with choice political patronage.

Plan 'General Exchange Of Views' During Their First Personal Contact

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy and Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev will meet in Vienna June 3 and 4 for their "first personal contact" and a "general exchange of views" on critical cold war issues.

The meeting was announced simultaneously in Moscow and Washington. The White House also announced that, in addition to conferring with French President Charles de Gaulle prior to the Vienna sessions, Kennedy will return from Vienna by way of London and confer with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

First Lady Makes Trip
Mrs. Kennedy will accompany the President on his trips, and in London it was announced the Kennedy's will dine with Queen Elizabeth June 5.

It is possible the President may make a report to the American people June 7 on his talks with the Soviet leader. Kennedy is to speak that day at commencement exercises at the Naval Academy, Annapolis, Md., an occasion that will afford opportunity for a report.

The official description of the Kennedy-Khrushchev talks as constituting a "first personal contact" suggests the possibility that both men envision further meetings. Authorities here said no further meetings are specifically planned, but that it is normal—or should be—for an American president to talk with the Soviet premier.

The formal announcement ruled out Kennedy-Khrushchev negotiations or agreements on "major" issues.

Truce Team Asked About Needed Aid

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP)—The East-West conference on Laos today rushed a message to the truce commission in that Southeast Asian trouble spot asking what it needs to supervise the cease-fire there.

Indian delegate V. K. Krishna Menon told newsmen he understood the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union were ready to help out the truce teams with planes, helicopters and other equipment.

India is chairman of the three-nation commission. Poland and Canada the other members.

Agree to Help

Menon said Indian and Canadian pilots could fly the Western aircraft and Poles the Soviet machines.

East and West delegates approved the move to tighten the shaky truce in Laos. Both sides had charged Thursday that the rival factions in that country were violating the cease-fire.

British Foreign Secretary Lord Home and the Soviet Union's Andrei A. Gromyko, as co-chairmen of the conference, discussed ways these repatriates will bring home memories of armed militiamen confiscating their property or hazarding them into jails.

They included proposals for reinforcing the commission with

Senate Votes Down Raise for Faculties

Legislature Kills Bills to Add $8 Million to State's Budget

MADISON (AP)—The Wisconsin and other Democrats described the Senate's vote today as discarding "last chance" to do something to amend the constitution that would have placed faculty salaries at a "more reasonable level."

The Senate also looked with disfavor on an amendment offered Thursday by Chester Dempsey, R-Hartland, to increase the pay of state university and college faculty members by 12 percent in the coming two years. He also approved the bill to increase the amount of the University of Wisconsin's annual $5 million in building funds, and gave the current economic dip.

Few Delays As Eichmann Attacked Jews

Yugoslavian Tells Of Persecution Two Days After Invasion

JERUSALEM, Israel (AP)—Adolf Eichmann's commandos were geared to move at such lightning speed that they cracked down on Yugoslavia's Jews only two days after the German armies rolled in, a witness at Eichmann's trial testified today.

Alexander Aron, 63, former Jewish leader in Croatia, testified that the German tanks smashed into Zagreb April 9, 1941, "at 3 o'clock in the afternoon."

"At five o'clock Croatian independence was declared under martial law," he continued.

Gestapo Comes "On April 11, the Gestapo came to the Jewish community, seized all the money and placed everyone under arrest."

Anti-Jewish measures ensued, with rapidly until most of Yugoslavia's 75,000 Jews were caught in one net or another.

His testimony together with that of another survivor, Dr. Hinko Selz, 35, was presented to depict events in Yugoslavia rather than as direct evidence against the defendant charged with directing the extermination of Europe's Jewry in World War II.

The linkup was provided in documents offered by Dep. Atty. Gen. Yaakov Bar'or. These Nazi files showed the German Embassy in occupied Yugoslavia prodded Berlin for help in deporting Jews and Eichmann himself was sent there to speed things up.

Also, he now is in charge of organizing the most extensive effort ever made by the federal government to curb juvenile delinquency and youth crime.

The Justice Department's functions and enforcement duties include: antitrust law enforcement, the civil rights field, income tax evasion, interstate crime, all civil claims for and against the government, internal security, immigration, representation of the United States in the Supreme Court, legal advice for all other executive departments and agencies and administration of the federal prison system.

The additional duties which this 35-year-old attorney general has been called upon to assume clearly reflect the President's great confidence in him.

No Eight Hour Day For Robert Kennedy

Attorney General Has Widest Range Of Duties Among Cabinet Members

WASHINGTON (AP)—Person ally, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy likes to go bareheaded but officially he has acquired a number of hats and by virtue of a 12-hour day and a six-day week, he is wearing all of them.

The special tasks assigned to him by his brother, the President, have given him the widest range of responsibilities of any Cabinet member.

Thus, in addition to running the Justice Department with its staff of 31,000 employees, Robert Kennedy is engaged with other high officials in a deep analysis of the Cuban invasion disaster.

Cornerstone Will be Laid At Smithsonian

Building to House Original 'Star Spangled Banner'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Officials today lay the cornerstone of the new home of the original Star Spangled Banner.

The new structure, scheduled for completion in late summer 1962, is the Smithsonian Institution's Museum of History and Technology.

Chief Justice Earl Warren and Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.J., preside at today's ceremony.

Warren is chancellor of the Smithsonian's board of regents; Anderson is chairman of the joint congressional committee overseeing construction.

The new museum will have five floors and a basement. Three exhibition floors containing over 50 halls will display the national collections relating to American history—civil, political and cultural, the history of science, engineering and manufacturing, and the history of the armed forces.

The original Star Spangled Banner—the flag which flew over Fort Mifflin in 1814 and inspired Francis Scott Key to write "The Star Spangled Banner"—will be the feature exhibit in the central main hall.

The new building is located on the mall, between 12th and 14th streets. It is the first federally constructed museum built for the Smithsonian since the cornerstone of the natural history museum was laid in 1906.

Yardmasters Union Calls Strike Against Nation's Railroads

No Walkout Expected for About Two Months Due to Negotiations

CHICAGO (AP)—A strike against the nation's railroads has been called for Monday by the Railroad Yardmasters of America. But a spokesman for the carriers says there will be no walkout for at least two months.

Milton G. Schoch, president of the nonoperating union representing some 5,000 workers who make up the trains, said the work stoppage could tie up the nation's major railroads. Schoch confirmed the strike call Thursday night but declined to disclose issues in the dispute.

A spokesman for the railroad, however, said the dispute involved wages and work rules and would go before an emergency board under procedures of the National (railway) Labor Act. Such action normally delays a strike by at least 60 days.

Will Name Board Theodore M. Short, chairman of the Western Carriers Conference, said he expected an emergency board to be named by the President would meet in Washington Tuesday. He said he had received unofficial notice to that effect.

Schoch, asked if he thought the President would appoint an emergency board, said: "Oh, yes, I'm not worrying." He did not elaborate.

The rail spokesman said initial negotiations between the railroads and the union broke down last year. Then, as specified by law, negotiations resumed under Union Declines The board proffered arbitration March 16, but the yardmasters, one of 16 nonoperating unions, declined. The brotherhood, in addition to a wage hike, is seeking work rules changes. The carriers also are asking changes in work rules and a decrease in pay.

Short said railroad negotiations beginning in 1959 set a wage pattern which the yardmasters declined to accept. Other railroad unions accepted new contracts providing wage increases and separating work rules out as a special issue for study by a federal commission.

The Railway Labor Act prohibits the President from appointing a fact-finding board to view the dispute and make recommendations. This board has 30 days to make its report and the law provides another 30-day cooling off period before a strike can be called.

Edgar Radue, 17, and Daniel Fels, 16, both of Maribel, were hospitalized with injuries suffered in the crash.

Medical Care for the Aged

Dr. Edward R. Annis, Miami, Fla., says it is the greatest sport in the world to fight for the right. Dr. Annis is on the firing line for the American Medical Association and he is sure that he is in the right.

He has been in many debates with such opponents as Walter Reuther, Sen. Hubert Humphrey and Sen. Jacob Javits of New York and Sen. William Proxmire of Wisconsin.

Dr. Annis is opposed to the King-Anderson bill now before Congress which would use the Social Security setup to finance medical care for the aged. He favors the Kerr-Mills bill which now is on the statute books and provides that medical care for the needy over 65 be paid for out of general tax income.

Dr. Annis has taken time in analyzing the arguments and setting them up in simple form so that they are easily understood. The King-Anderson bill, he says, provides that everyone over 65 years of age who is recipient of Social Security will have the right to medical care under the Social Security Act. All you have to do to qualify, he says, is to be 65 and covered by Social Security. Then he asks the question, "How many of your friends would be in favor of a tax on the workers and the employers of this country to pick up the grocery bill for all 16 million people over 65 years of age, just because they are over 65?"

Make It Easier to Vote

Recent studies of election problems have indicated that many people do not vote because the laws in their states make it difficult for them to do so. Wisconsin always has been liberal in this respect and now is moving to further liberalize its rules. The legislature has completed action on a proposal to reduce the time of residence in the state required for a voter from one year to six months.

The requirement of one year's residence in the state has been accepted as reasonable for the past century. Most people felt that was long enough for new residents to become acquainted with Wisconsin's problems before taking a hand in politics.

However, in recent years the population has become much more mobile. Today we have so many nationwide corporations employing people in one state and

That easily would be recognized as socialism, he says, and asks further how about clothing—same thing. Then he points out that it is no less socialistic to have people receive medical care whether they need it or not, or want it or not, or can afford to pay for it or not, if it would be socialistic to provide food, clothing and housing merely because they are 65 years of age or older.

Thus, he says, the medical profession is supporting the Kerr-Mills approach. This bill, he points out, is financed by general tax income. Thus the wealthy pay in proportion to their income. And only those persons benefit who need help.

In contrast, he says, "under the Social Security program 40 per cent of the nation's income isn't taxed. Rents, stocks, bonds, oil, these things are not taxed for Social Security — and the man who makes $100,000 pays the same tax as the man who makes $4,800.

"And who benefits? All who reach 65 if they have Social Security. 11 million of them. And four million who need it most who are not covered by Social Security, could not even be helped."

He has had much more to say on the subject but we think that pretty well covers it. The fact of the matter is we have a good law now on the books and all that is necessary is for the states to get busy and implement it.

shortly moving them to another that great numbers of such persons are not qualified in many of the states to vote even for President. In these fast moving times, with our greatly improved communication system, six months is the equivalent of a year only a short time ago.

It is necessary to have safeguards to protect the people and the candidates from illegal voters. However, experience indicates clearly that it is not desirable to put obstacles in the way of most people in the exercise of the franchise. Too many are altogether too willing to entrust this duty to others.

The legislature has acted properly in liberalizing the rules but the law will not become effective until it is approved by a statewide referendum. Thus the people will have the final say and it appears quite likely that the rule will be changed.

If Rocking Chair Won't Get You—

A President has to watch his every move — even when he's quietly rocking. When President Kennedy's White House physician, Dr. Janet Travell, prescribed rocking, presumably to soothe the troubled spirits as well as to keep the circulation going, the entire nation took to rocking. There were so many calls and letters asking where the President purchased his special rocker, that Dr. Travell gave out the name of the factory down in North Carolina.

This may have annoyed other rocking chair manufacturers. It certainly increased the North Carolina rocking chair trade where the factory hired an additional 35 chairmakers.

What Others are Saying
Byrnes Says We Cannot Gloss Over Defeat Suffered in Cuba

From Rep. Byrnes' News Letter
It will do us no good to gloss over the defeat suffered by the U.S. last week. The events in Cuba constitute a major diplomatic and strategic reversal for our country and the cause of freedom. We will either learn the bitter lesson it taught or go the way of all nations who were unable to respond to the challenge of tyranny.

We can now begin to assess the damage done by a venture which was poorly planned, halfheartedly executed and hastily abandoned. An operation designed to bring down Castro and help the free world has resulted in a strengthening of the position of the Communist government of Cuba — a grave loss of U.S. prestige in Europe, Africa, the Far East and Latin America. It drives apart American leadership among our allies and creates for the Kremlin's propaganda mill.

While there is official silence on the extent of American participation in the abortive Cuban revolt, it is generally understood that it could not have taken place without U.S. support and U.S. approval. That approval was apparently given without any real assessment of the consequences of failure or without any decision as to what action this country would take to prevent that failure. As a result, during the critical period of the revolt, this nation did nothing, and Soviet arms once again snuffed out a small band fighting for freedom.

Prior to the beginning of the revolt, the President tied his own hand by announcing to the world that America would not directly intervene in the struggle for Cuban independence. After the revolt had failed, he reversed this position, in a speech before the nation's editors, and said that "this government will not hesitate in meeting its primary obligations, which are to the security of the United States" in the event other Latin American nations "failed to meet their commitments against outside penetration."

The plain facts are that Cuba is a Communist dictatorship. There is no freedom in Cuba. Communist arms and Communist technicians are flowing into the country. With the passage of time, and the opportunity to consolidate, Cuba can be turned into a Communist military and political base to foment and support Communist revolution throughout Central and South America. The island lies less than 100 miles from continental United States. It is a situation fraught with danger to the security of this nation. It can be met successfully only by a united people under a national leadership which not only knows what must be done but is willing to do it. We cannot drift.

As a nation, we can continue to support those within and without Cuba who are fighting to restore democratic government. We can help the few fighters left in the hills. But, sooner or later, the test we failed to meet last week must come again, and that test is whether or not we have the will and courage to meet head on the brutal challenge of a foe determined to take over all of Latin America.

U. S. No Longer Able To Claim First Place
From The Denver Post
For some time now, our experts have held that the United States is ahead in technology, the Russians in first-stage rocket power. The Soviet success in putting a man-bearing, five-ton vehicle in orbit, then returning it to earth safely indicates that even in instrumentation and technology we may no longer be able to claim first place.

Just Friendly Riots
From The Memphis Commercial Appeal
Dispatches indicated that thousands were screaming and rioting around in Elizabethtown, Kan., but also said only 10 persons were injured. The boys couldn't have been trying very hard.

'Oh, Rioters—At First I Thought You Said Riders! Go Ahead'

President Kennedy a Troubled Man But He's No War-Monger

Johns Knight in the Detroit Free Press

Today, our nation is in great peril. The problems and decisions facing President Kennedy are difficult and grim.

He seeks neither to evade the problems nor postpone the decisions.

Yet he does not bow to the "do something" school of thought which recklessly recommends angry courses of action without adequate information or proper consideration of the consequences involved.

The President has been widely criticized for the Cuban fiasco. Commendably, he has sought no scapegoats but took full personal responsibility for this misadventure.

But the clamor to "do something" does not subside. There are those who would have the United States wage war against the Castro regime before it is "too late."

At this stage, we should be talking not in terms of another Cuban invasion but how to bring the nations of Latin America into common cause against Fidel Castro's communistic ideology.

The worldwide upheaval, as Walter Lippmann says, "cannot be stopped and settled by the United States Marines; great fighters though they are."

The sane course, therefore, is first to forge agreement among the nations in this hemisphere and then take such steps as seem demanded by later developments.

Meanwhile we remain prepared and are free to throw our forces against Cuba in the event of an overt enemy act.

By this patient and admittedly frustrating approach, we sacrifice nothing but time.

The alternative is to get tough and risk the loss of Latin America to our enemies.

The other front where some of our more bellicose citizens would take a stand is in landlocked Laos.

Laos has no seaports and only two small government-held airstrips. Had we committed troops in Laos, the problem of supply might have been insurmountable.

Any U.S. military force in Laos would be confronted with Communist Viet Nam's 300,000 men and at least half a million Red Chinese.

For all practical considerations, Laos is already lost to the Communists despite cease-fire talks and the ultimate formation of a "neutral" government.

We made an unrealistic commitment in Laos which is better understood by the Russians than by ourselves.

Whether we can save South Viet Nam from the Communists seems extremely doubtful. . . .

But I seriously question that we intend to make any all-out effort in Southeast Asia such as we would employ to protect Formosa or defend West Berlin.

What seems more likely is the beefing up of the South Viet Nam's military strength through training and additional weapons in the hope that the South Vietnamese can hold the line.

President Kennedy, who inherited these problems, is a troubled man. And who wouldn't be?

Fortunately for the country, he is no jingo about to plunge the United States into a series of costly peripheral wars while Russian forces remain intact and uncommitted. . . .

2 Writers Disapprove Treatment of News

Editor, Post-Crescent:

I was deeply touched with the letter written to the People's Forum on Tuesday, May 2. I'm referring to the article written by Mrs. Paul Steffens. I, too, share in her feeling and am writing these few words to comfort her.

I was one of Irene's girl friends. I didn't meet her at some bar, as you would like to believe. I met her at high school religious instructions. She lived too far from Freedom to attend the parochial school, but she never missed those religious instructions. I remember her as a gay, happy person who was full of life. I remember the time she turned down a date to the Seymour prom so that she could crown the May Queen. Her words and I remember them yet: "I can always go to the prom, but the chance to crown the May Queen doesn't come every day." She bought her parents a kitchen set for Christmas. Does that sound like the kind of girl who would travel from bar to bar like a local tramp?

I plead with you, please don't

Looking Backward

South Carolina Rejects July 4

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Motor for May 23, 1861.

South Carolina, when she entered formally on her career of infamy, erased by Legislative act the Fourth of July from her list of holidays. She was atrociously consistent in this.

The 45th anniversary of the birth of the American Republic is to be signalized by the assembling of our new Congress in Washington — yes, at Washington, Mr. Jeff Davis, do you hear? — and by the consequent inauguration, doubtless, of more vigorous and systematic efforts to disarm and crush out the Treason which aims at the national life. Independence Day has for a lifetime been our great national festival.

This year it will have the solemnity of emphasis and will be celebrated with a fervor of patriotic enthusiasm such as has never yet been known.

We suggest that in every city and town where Treason does not forbid and forcibly prevent it, the entire population who are resolved to stand by the Union and to live or die under the Stars and Stripes shall be gathered for such a celebration.

And we suggest that, in addition to the usual exercises, that the old flag be raised with all the honors and that a patriotic contribution be taken up for the benefit of our citizen soldiery and their families.

One other thing, we do not consider ourselves teenagers. We are 19 and 20 years old. We have been going to school for two years or, in Irene's case, been working for two years. We are not ready to join A.A.A.

I think the Appleton Post-Crescent owes the Steffen family a public apology. Before publishing another article of that sort, think of the poor mother.

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Your sensationalizing of the news has been a source of disgust to me, both as a citizen and a mother of teen-age children. There is nothing productive in reporting crime; give it a minimum of space.

The fact that you cannot report simple local facts accurately is becoming ever more apparent — this is borne out by the reporting of the accident involving Father Baldwin Beyer. There is a vast difference between a foreign sports car and a Volkswagen. And if the accident is caused by the passing of another car I expect the reporter to say so, not imply speed happy driving.

This is written in the hope that if enough people voice their opinions to you rather than to each other it might persuade you to give us fairer, less sensationalized news coverage.

Lawrence Says

Negroes at Parties New Capital Game

Columnist Thinks Administration Has No Business in It

BY DAVID LAWRENCE WASHINGTON — An agitation started by spokesmen for the Kennedy administration is stirring up quite a controversy not only over the admission of Negroes to private clubs but their inclusion at cocktail parties and dinners in private homes.

Lawrence

The idea of "token" participation seems to have been rejected as unsatisfactory by many advocates of "integration," the argument being that to select a few individuals to participate in the association for individuals, but is of the proportion to population is much more equitable.

About 54 per cent of the population of the national capital is Negro, so it is being argued that there must be "equality" and that a failure to provide an equal to the Negroes at cocktail parties and at official as well as many officials who are capable private dinners is a form of "discrimination."

How Many?

Two members of the Kennedy cabinet have spoken out on the subject of admission of Negroes to private clubs, but there has been no indication from them as to the quantitative formula to be used in determining how many Negroes should be admitted. Nor is there any clarification as yet as to what the Kennedy administration intends to do to coerce the private clubs to do its bidding. Take-away tax exemptions is one device often mentioned.

The public discussion was started by Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy and Secretary of Labor Arthur Goldberg. Mr. Kennedy in a television interview spoke of private clubs here that do not admit Negroes, and added: "And, as I say, if we're going to practice what we preach we're going to have to take steps forward in all sections of the United States."

Intellectual Level

Secretary Goldberg, in a public address recently in New York, said:

"I find it difficult to understand why, in the houses I have frequented socially, the dinner parties, the cocktail parties, I have rarely seen Negroes as guests. This is particularly marked among intellectuals and liberals in our large cities, particularly in New York City and Chicago. Are there no Negro writers, composers, artists, academicians with whom one can break bread, with whom one can engage in intellectual discourse?"

There are, of course, many of us, irrespective of race or creed or color, who are never able to engage in "intellectual discourse," anyway, but, assuming that there are a fortunate few who can do so, the question arises as to what the administration here has to do with it. The Supreme Court decision has upheld "freedom of association" for individuals, but not for groups, and it is not clear that the administration here has any intention of applying to every body.

Get the Facts

Maybe the first thing to do is to get the facts. If there be in the Kennedy administration any officials who are capable of engaging in "intellectual discourse," then indeed it might be asked whether lately they have been inviting any Negro couples to their cocktail parties and dinners.

So far as is known, the times been no indication from them as to the quantitative formula to be used in determining how many Negroes should be admitted. Nor is there any clarification as yet as to what the Kennedy administration intends to do to coerce the private clubs to do its bidding. Take-away tax exemptions is one device often mentioned.

Many official functions have been held in Washington recently at which no Negroes were present. In political campaign years, there are some, of course. Political dinners by the Republicans have for decades included some of the Negro politicians and their wives. Only in more recent times have the Democrats in the north done the same. But, as far as is known, the Kennedy administration has not invited any Negroes for cocktail parties or dinners, though it could be that no functions have been held as yet at which "Negro writers, composers, artists, academicians" could find anyone with whom they could engage in "intellectual discourse."

What's needed around Washington, to be sure, are some stand-

25% DISCOUNT in cost-per-mile!

Now, for not one penny more than you pay for conventional 1st line nylon tires you can have Gates Air-Float Deluxe in the low profile design that gives you 25% to 30% more miles. You save fully one-fourth of the dollars you spend on tires—a 25% discount in cost-per-mile!

TESTED more than 10 MILLION MILES

$19.95

Because it is built lower and wider (closer to the true running shape of a tire) Gates Air-Float Deluxe low profile design greatly reduces the major cause of tire wear—scuffing of the tread caused by excessive flexing as the tire runs. Heat, another enemy of tire life, is also greatly reduced. That's why this tire gives average drivers a bonus of 5,000 miles or more—a fact proved by more than 10 million miles of carefully recorded fleet tests.

Unconditional ROAD-HAZARD GUARANTEE

Ranch Home Has Three Full Patios

By Jules Loh usually reserved for more expensive homes. "The house not only has the appearance of a luxury home," said architect Samuel Paul, "it functions like one as well."

The outdoor areas — a play terrace plus front and rear patios — not only add much to the 1,540 square feet of indoor space but also give touches of elegance.

Patios on Three Sides of this seven-room ranch were placed there to give the maximum in outdoor-indoor living comfort. All three areas are ideal for children's play areas, and each can be easily observed from the kitchen.

A Brick Fireplace wall in the living room extends out onto one of the patios to form an outdoor barbecue pit. This artist's sketch shows how glass walls are used to combine indoor and outdoor areas.

vertical and horizontal siding, with asphalt shingle specified for the roof.

Cathedral Ceiling
Its overall dimensions are 46' deep by 72'6" wide with the double garage. A single garage would reduce the width to 64'. Paul recommends a plot of about 39' by 100' to take fullest advantage of the outdoor living features.

The living room has a cathedral ceiling formed by the underside of the sloping roof rafters. Light fixtures (and air conditioning ducts, if desired) are housed in a wide, flat light cove placed atop the 8' high interior living room wall and extending 12' into the room.

In the foyer, the light cove becomes a suspended canopy over the archway to the living room. The foyer ceiling is the same type as the living room, sloping downward from the peak which disappears above the light cove.

Storage Space
Note the abundance of closets and storage space in B-65. The master bedroom has two large sliding-door closets; the other bedrooms one each; two roomy closets off the entrance foyer; and a handy closet in the family room for the toys, games and other paraphernalia that invariably collect there.

The storage space in the garage off the play terrace is for garden equipment.

The front patio, with its low, random ashlar wall, lends itself to a variety of uses. Architect Paul suggests it would be an ideal setting for sculpture, or possibly a showplace for favorite shrubs. Paul notes an additional feature of the house, not apparent to most laymen. Room widths, have been planned to use stock lengths of floor and ceiling joists, thus holding cutting time, waste and framing time to a minimum.

The plan suggests only one of a number of possible layouts for the basement. This one provides a laundry room, basement toilet and recreation room, plus abundant storage closet space.

Does Double Duty
A primer-sealer is an ingenious product of the paint industry that does two jobs at once. The seal-er component seals porous surfaces such as bare plaster, new wood, wallboard and the like, and prevents uneven absorption of the paint that is applied later. The primer component hides wood grain, previous colors and blemishes.

The Kitchen in This Home is the control center for a busy mother. Youngsters can be observed while at play on one of the patios or in the family room. A hallway to the bedroom area provides privacy and quiet.

UW Specialist Lists Common Turf Diseases

Gives Description Of Six Types Found Often in Wisconsin

MADISON — These are the diseases that might attack your lawn, according to Earl Wade, plant disease specialist at the University of Wisconsin.

Most troublesome turf diseases in Wisconsin are leaf spot and root rot, brown patch, fading out, leaf rust, fairy rings and snow mold.

Leaf spot produces reddish-brown spots on the leaves and stems of Kentucky blue. As the infection becomes more severe, the leaves turn brown and shrivel and the plants down through the roots discolor and rot.

Brown patch develops as roughly circular areas in the lawn, a few inches to several feet in diameter. Sometimes only leaves are affected and the turf recovers in two or three weeks. However if weather is damp and muggy or the lawn is being mismanaged with watering or clipping, this fungus can kill the grass.

Leaves Fade
Fading out is caused by a group of fungi and is most destructive during hot humid weather. Disease areas become yellow or faded green as though the grass needed fertilizer. If severe, the leaves wear out too fast because of grass dies in small patches.

Leaf rust develops on blue the right varnish formula is not grass, especially Merion blue, being used. Many companies are generally in late summer. You'll making a varnish based on polyurethane the orange rust spots on rethain resins or on epoxy resins leaves and stems, which are said to be extremely Fairy rings are caused by long lasting.

Tough Floor Varnish
If the varnish on wooden floors wears out too fast because of heavy traffic or abrasion, perhaps the right varnish formula is not being used. Many companies are generally in late summer. You'll making a varnish based on polyurethane the orange rust spots on rethain resins or on epoxy resins leaves and stems, which are said to be extremely Fairy rings are caused by long lasting.

Patios Heated for Spring, Autumn Use
Want to use your outdoor patio in the spring and autumn? Heating specialists report that rust-proof copper tubes can be embedded in the concrete flooring of the patio and hot water circulated through them to literally "heat the outdoors." This heating system, an adaptation of radiant panel heating, keeps a sheltered patio comfortable even when the temperature goes down as low as 55 degrees.

Paint for Touch-Ups
It's a very good idea after a repainting job to save a small amount of paint in a tightly closed container. This left over paint comes in handy for any touch-ups later. For taking care of little touch-ups, a cotton swab makes a neat applicator.

Crafty Enemy
First of all, Dr. Snyder says, don't underestimate the termite. Even with a good high founda- tion and a metal shield your house is not safe from attack. If ter- mites aren't in your home, it's more than likely because of the abundance of other sources of good than because of the effect- iveness of physical barriers.

Termites must always have a close connection to their under- ground colony, unless there is a

Another important aspect of bricks is their wide range of colors, not all of which are appropriate for garden walks or other paving around the home. Before buying bricks, consider these colors by comparing sam- ples of them at your building sup- ply house.

Bricks are often available from houses or other structures that have been torn down. If you have an opportunity to obtain such used bricks cheaply, you had better weigh their ultimate cost in terms of the time you will have to spend in cleaning them. This is a tedious job, and you may discover that in the long run it is cheaper to buy new ones.

Follow Pattern
No matter what kind of bricks you use you can make your pavement more attractive by laying them according to an interest- ing pattern. The variety of such patterns is infinite but, because of the complexity of some of them, it is better to choose those which are not too difficult to lay.

Four common patterns are shown on the accompanying drawing. Drawing A depicts basket weave with the bricks laid on edge. Borders are made of bricks set on end. The pattern shown in Drawing B is similar to that in A except that here the bricks are laid flat. The border is composed of bricks set on end but these are arranged a little differently from those in Drawing A. Drawing C is a herringbone edged by bricks laid on their sides. Easiest of all to lay, but not quite so interesting, is the pattern represented in Drawing D. This is a common running bond bordered by soldier courses — or bricks laid on end.

Chemical Protection
Because wives usually spend more time at home during the day they have the best chance of observing the swarming or spotting the discarded wings. You can easily distinguish termites from ants. Dr. Snyder says. Termites have bodies with thick waists and their four wings are the same size, whereas ants have hour-glass shaped bodies and their rear wings are smaller than their front ones.

If you see signs of termites inside or near your house, you should call in a pest control operator at once. Dr. Snyder advises. Dr. Snyder says modern chem- icals can put an end to your ter- mite worries once and for all. A permanent termite proof bar- rier can be created by having a pest control operator inject in the ground all around a house a chemical which kills termites up- on contact. The Department of Agriculture has tested barriers prepared with two chemicals, aldrin and dieldrin, for over a decade and they have shown no loss of effectiveness. Dr. Snyder reports. Tests by their manufac- turer have extended even longer, with the same results, he says.

Dieldrin is preferred for treat- ment of existing buildings. Dr. Snyder says, while aldrin is be- ing used to make more and more new homes and other buildings permanently safe from termites. If you are in the market for a new house, he suggests you have the builder termite-proof the soil chemically before construction — the cheapest possible insurance against future damage.

Insurance for Home Should Be Up to Date

Old Policies Not Always Adequate
For Current Need

Improving your home? If you have invested more money in your property, be sure to carry sufficient fire insurance to protect against loss, warns the Construction Research Bureau, national clearing house for building information.

All too often, says the bureau, homeowners forget to raise the amount of insurance they carry to cover replacement costs as prices go up. Fire strikes 800 homes a day, of which 40 percent are underinsured.

"For the last ten years, con- struction costs have mounted at a steady two to three percent a year," says one expert. "Even if you have not added special im- provements, the value of your home has risen about 25 percent since 1950."

Higher Cost
"Being underinsured has come as a bad shock to many homeowners hit by fire or other severe damage. When they go to rebuild their dwelling they find that the amount considered adequate a decade ago won't begin to cover their costs today."

The difference between insur- ance and replacement is even more pronounced when the home has been improved with such ad- ditions as extra rooms or garage space, a modernized kitchen.

It's Your Landscape Bricks Make Attractive Terrace, Garden Walk

BY GEORGE E. CREED
Landscape Architect

Bricks are one of the most attractive surfacing materials for garden walks and terraces. They have been used this way for centuries and remain popular. However, not all bricks are suitable for this purpose.

Common building bricks, for instance, are too soft and have a tendency to absorb too much moisture. If this freezes it causes the bricks to crack and flake off, or spall. Therefore, it is most satisfactory, in the long run, to use regular, hardbaked bricks for out-of-door paving.

Another important aspect of bricks is their wide range of colors, not all of which are appropriate for garden walks or other paving around the home. Before buying bricks, consider these colors by comparing sam- ples of them at your building sup- ply house.

Bricks are often available from houses or other structures that have been torn down. If you have an opportunity to obtain such used bricks cheaply, you had better weigh their ultimate cost in terms of the time you will have to spend in cleaning them. This is a tedious job, and you may discover that in the long run it is cheaper to buy new ones.

Follow Pattern
No matter what kind of bricks you use you can make your pavement more attractive by laying them according to an interest- ing pattern. The variety of such patterns is infinite but, because of the complexity of some of them, it is better to choose those which are not too difficult to lay.

Four common patterns are shown on the accompanying drawing. Drawing A depicts basket weave with the bricks laid on edge. Borders are made of bricks set on end. The pattern shown in Drawing B is similar to that in A except that here the bricks are laid flat. The border is composed of bricks set on end but these are arranged a little differently from those in Drawing A. Drawing C is a herringbone edged by bricks laid on their sides. Easiest of all to lay, but not quite so interesting, is the pattern represented in Drawing D. This is a common running bond bordered by soldier courses — or bricks laid on end.

Questions and Answers

Q. Is there anything I can do to keep my zoyzia grass from turn- ing brown in the fall?

A. No. This is the nature of the grass.

Q. Why is it necessary to "pinch out" new growth in am- plexioles?

A. The difference between insur- ance and replacement is even more pronounced when the home has been improved with such ad- ditions as extra rooms or garage space, a modernized kitchen.

Water Softener Helps Prolong Appliance Life

If the washing looks like it was done with "Brand X" — the vil- lain that is scorned by so many TV soap commercials — don't be too quick to blame the automatic washing machine or the deter- gent. Hard water may be causing the trouble.

In approximately 85 per cent of the country, hard water cuts down on the performance and efficiency of automatic washers.

The solution is to soften the water, says the Plumbing-Heat- ing-Cooling Information Bureau. Modern appliances are built to last a long time, and soft water will help get maximum use from the automatic washer.

If an appliance is supplied with hard water, the same scale that appears in a teakettle will coat the parts of the washer that come in contact with hard water. Also, piping can be so clogged with this scale that it will only carry a trickle of water into the washer. The automatic controls can't adapt themselves to this fluctuation in water supply, and thus, the machine needs adjusting.

Adding a water softener not only will prevent damage to the piping and appliance, but it can also add to the enjoyment of living in your home.

Five Facts About Our Unemployed

BY SYLVIA PORTER

There are five facts about the "hard core" of our unemployed today which, once they are plainly stated, shed brilliant light on the crucial importance of developing a co-ordinate program at the national level for worker training and re-training.

(1) The heaviest percentage of joblessness is among our uneducated and unskilled. Almost one-fifth of those new unemployed are unskilled. The unskilled dominate the 2,128,000 who have been out of work for 15 weeks or more. The jobless rate among the unskilled is nearly eight times that among professional, technical and managerial workers.

(2) The unemployment rate among our young men and women

Fourth of Series

is by far the highest among all age groups. The jobless rate among young people who drop out of high school is double that of those who graduate. Of every 10 jobless today, three are under 25 years of age.

(3) While the only fundamental solution to our jobless problem lies in an economy expanding at a sufficient speed to create millions of new jobs every year, even great business booms do not have much impact on the hard core of unskilled jobless in depressed areas. These workers simply do not have the qualifications to fill available jobs.

(4) Individual corporations, unions and some communities are beginning to tackle the training-retraining problem and there is no doubt of the value of the pilot projects of Kaiser Steel and Armour among companies, the International Ladies' Garment Workers among unions, Hazleton, Pa., among communities to name a few. But the need for raising the skills of our workers crosses in age groups, state borders, industry groups. The jobless rate is a national challenge which can't be met only by a well-conceived, co-ordinated, adequately financed program at the national level.

(5) The plight of our unskilled untrained workers is going to become tragically worse in this decade unless we act now with imagination, courage and dignity to prevent the tragedy, for during the 1960s, the demand for skilled workers will be zooming across the board while the need for the unskilled will be shrinking rapidly. Yet, the Labor Dept. estimates that of the 26,000,000 youngsters entering our labor force in the '60s, a dreadful 7,500,000 will not have completed high school and 2,500,000 won't even have completed grade school. If we permit the Labor Dept's projections to become reality, we'll face the terrible paradox of a devastating shortage of skilled workers and simultaneously, a massive total of unemployed!

Others have, and so could I, write an inch-thick book elaborating on these five facts but the millions of words still will boil down to the increasingly imperative need for efforts at all levels of government and among leaders in business, labor and education to help train and retrain, locate and relocate workers so that they can support themselves and their families, provide the skills our nation must have.

It's Simple

It's that simple, that stark, that straight.

The Government has made a start with the retraining causes in the pioneering depressed areas law but it's only a start. Now the Kennedy Administration is preparing to fight for new programs, which may cost up to $200 million a year to meet the problem head-on. The programs are varied, of course, but in essence, they would:

Offer the broadest kind of training assistance to workers, young and old, on the edge of illiteracy and semi-skilled. This would mean the education facilities would range from elementary schooling in reading and writing to college studies.

Gear the training programs to the needs of the individual as an individual. This would mean some young people might be encouraged to go into a Youth Conservation Corps for a limited period while others are guided to on-the-job training with a company, some unskilled workers might be steered to a trade school, others to a junior college.

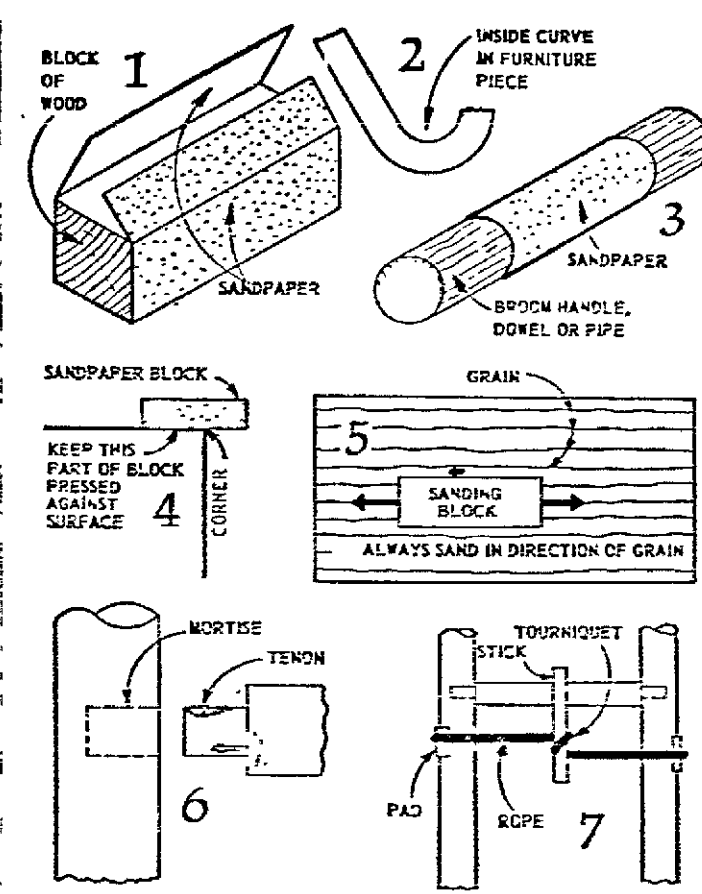

Direct the individuals to jobs that are available which they can fill. This would make sure that after being trained and encouraged, a worker will be able to find the job he needs.

This is the essence of the Federal Government's answers. Tomorrow, a final column on what each of us can and must do.

Outdoor Hot Water Faucet Very Useful

If you plan plenty of outdoor living and serving, it might be wise to install an outdoor hot water connection as well as a cold water outlet. The additional outlet will come in handy for cleaning the car, windows and outdoor furniture as well as for washing outdoor cooking equipment.

Do It Yourself

Refinishing Furniture Can be Fun, Profitable

BY J. RALPH DALZELL
Author of Books on Home Building and Repair

Refinishing old furniture can be interesting and rewarding. Old pieces made of solid woods can sometimes be found at auctions or antique shops and refinished at a fraction of the cost of new furniture.

The first step in a refinishing job is to remove the old finish. Hardware and paint stores supply suitable removers. Follow the directions on the container.

If the wood, as mahogany or walnut, has beautiful grain, a natural finish is the most logical choice. Here are procedure suggestions:

Sanding Important

A refinishing job is only as good as the sandpapering done before the new finish is applied. This part of the work must be done thoroughly and with great care. For all flat surfaces, wrap the sandpaper around a block of wood (as shown in picture 1). The use of a block avoids fur-

Sleepboard Easy To Make at Home

A sleepboard fits between the bed spring and mattress to allow proper sleeping posture for persons whose doctors recommend its use. One may be made in the home workshop simply by cutting a panel of quarter-inch tempered hardboard to size. The usual length is 60 inches, the width varies according to the bed. Easily kept clean because of its dense, smooth surface, the hardboard will not split, splinter or crack. Corners and edges should be rounded with a file or sardoblock. It will never catch and snag the bed clothes.

Rust-Proof Plumbing Fixtures Important

Plumbing and plumbing fixtures account for approximately 10% of the costs of a new home, home specialists report. They advise the installation of rust-proof copper piping for water lines and drainage systems to keep repair costs down and insure trouble-free operation.

Septic Tank Must Be Large Enough

If you plan installing a septic tank, make sure it is large enough to handle your home's water load. A three-bedroom house should have at least a 750 gallon tank. If the house is equipped with a garbage disposal unit, a 1,000 gallon tank probably will be required.

Air Cooler Should Fit Home Needs

Three Types Made To Suit Specific Wants of Owners

What type of air conditioning system should you purchase for your home?

Should it be a split system, a package unit, a heat pump or several room air conditioners? The complex answer is dependent on many factors—your home, your budget, your present heating system, the size and frequency of your home entertainment and how you plan to operate an air conditioning system.

A split system offers flexible application possibilities for almost any kind of residence. It consists of a condensing unit located outside the home and connected by means of refrigerant lines to a cooling coil located over the furnace inside the residence.

Special Installation

This system requires field installation skill since a well-qualified refrigeration man is necessary to run the refrigeration lines and charge the system with refrigerant at the time of installation.

Another piece of equipment ideal for homes is the all-in-one packaged unit. It is factory assembled and ready to operate and can be placed over a carport, in an attic, in a crawl space or on a concrete slab outside the home. It must be connected to the air distribution system within the house by means of sheet metal ducts.

When this type of system is used the installing dealer does not have to concern himself with the air handling capacity of the furnace blower. Each unit has its own air blower which is sized to handle the amount of air required from the unit.

Use Furnace Ducts

An all-in-one unit can be used with an existing warm air heating system if one is available and adequately sized, just as with a split system.

If the home is heated by hot water or other methods which do not require ducts, then this unit can be used with a separately installed air distribution system.

With today's larger capacity units, room air conditioners can also be used for whole house air conditioning.

Room units provide individual or zone control, if more than one unit is used; they can be moved from one location to another if necessary; all units are factory sealed for easy maintenance; and no duct work is required.

Successful application of room units to whole house air conditioning has been achieved by combining the operation of the room unit with the operation of the furnace blower.

The cool, dehumidified air is circulated throughout the residence by means of this furnace blower and the heating distribution system.

Heat Pumps

Heat pumps have been the clamorous item of the air conditioning industry for the past few years.

Their greatest sales have been in the southern areas where the heating requirements are not severe and where electric power rates are low.

Heat pumps are available to automatically shift from heating to cooling, which permits central control from one thermostat.

Public Nostalgic in Its Record Purchases

'Sing Along' Fad, Popularity of Old Favorites Examples of Trend

BY CHARLES STAFFORD
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Science may be rocketing toward the frontiers of space and a new administration in Washington may be plodding toward a "new frontier," but the record makers are beating a retreat to such easily defended bastions as "The Big Rock Candy Mountain," "Galway Bay," and "St. Louis Boogie."

"The 'Sing Along' fad is the best example of this affection for nostalgia. But there also has been an outbreak of long-playing records featuring "golden favorites" and old musical forms.

And the public apparently likes them.

Reasons Why
Maybe it's because Tin Pan Alley's favorite product of the moment, rock 'n' roll, is a good ground wire for teen-age high tension but tarnishes too quickly to have any lasting value as music.

Jazz, meanwhile, is becoming too progressive for pedestrian taste.

But whatever the reason, it can't be all bad when it results in collections of the best record includes 101 gang songs, with lots of talented people like Ella Fitzgerald and Bing Crosby.

'Tomboy' Film Heart-Tugging Tale Well Told

Movie Centers on Rural Youth and Club Activities

BY ROY F. VALITCHKA II
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

If you don't mind a tiny tear in the corner of your eye and lead unless he hears rock-n-roll that tug at your stomach when you don't know whether to laugh or cry — you'll love the show "Tomboy and the Champ" now showing at Viking theater.

Tommy Jo Layne as a pig-tailed tomboy, a city called Katy, and Calkins County, Texas, besides a lovable black Angus are experiences more tears and misfortune to make an audience, young and old, want to cry and sing. And singing there is, three new songs, "Barbecue Rock", a catchy "Get Ready with the Rib-bon, Judge" and heart-rending ballad, "Who Says Animals Can't Cry," sung by cowboy star Rex Allen.

The whole story centers around the tomboy 4-H Club member who lives in Calkins County, Texas — Tommy Jo. She falls in love with a renegade steer calf and names him and decides "Champy" will be a champion before she owns him.

A former circuit preacher, Pastor Dan, narrates the story and plays a major role in Tommy Jo's life. The girl gets her calf and begins training him — until polio strikes. She overcomes the disease with the help of pastor Dan and her foster parents.

Tommy Jo takes her calf — a bull-headed critter that refuses to lead unless he hears rock-n-roll music — to the Houston livestock show and loses.

Story Authentic
Misfortune befalls the family but Tommy Jo's determination wins out. Your heart will swell with inner pride when the girl wins the Chicago International Livestock Exposition — then ex-sides a lovable black Angus are experiences more tears and misfortune — something that can happen to any child who is about to lose a calf to slaughter.

The story is about as authentic as movieland can make it.

Youth organizations are highlighted throughout the film. The work of 4-H, FFA, FHA and other rural organizations plays a big part in making Tommy Jo and her animal a success.

For those who have lived on a farm, love the life of the outdoors and just love good entertainment — "Tomboy and the Champ" is a film to see.

Youth leaders will find deep in their hearts why they love to work with youth and realize again — champions are made, not born.

Order Joint Meeting On Street Extension

Street and Sanitation, Public Safety
Groups to Discuss Franklin, Washington

Appleton's City Council has decided the proposed extension of Washington Street, from Division Street to State Street, should be discussed at a joint meeting of the street and sanitation and public safety committees. No date was set for the meeting.

The public safety committee had recommended adoption of a resolution by Ald. Homer Malmstrom that the Washington Street extension become the official city plan, as opposed to extending Franklin Street.

But the street and sanitation committee asked for the joint meeting so both possibilities could be explored more thoroughly.

Kenneth L. Schellie and Associates, city planners, have been asked to study both proposals and make a recommendation. Their reply is expected in several weeks, the council was told.

Postpone Buying Land
A board of public works recommended to buy 22,000 square feet of land from the Chicago North Western Railroad at $1.10 a foot was referred back to committee, too, with a request for an appraisal.

Some of the land, which lies along the tracks between Division and State Streets, would be needed to extend Washington.

Ald. Thomas Schneider asked to have the land appraised, and requested deferring the purchase until it is decided if an appraisal is advisable.

"I think it should be appraised."

Street plan, and would favor Franklin Street.

He asked to be notified when the joint meeting will be held to discuss the two possibilities, so that he can give his arguments.

Neenah and St. John Students Dance Away Evenings at Their Annual Prom Festivities

Last weekend was 'Prom Time' for students at St. John High School, Little Chute, and Neenah High School. The Little Chute event was held Friday evening at the school. Decorations carried out the "Isle of Golden Dreams" theme. Neenah High School prom committee adopted the theme of "Amelot" for their big dance of the year. The gymnasium was transformed to represent a scene from King Arthur's Court. In keeping with the royal atmosphere, members of the prom court gathered to admire the formal dress of their classmates. Pictured at right are Janice Johnson, David Norenberg, Jeri Stilp, James Hedlund, Joan Bylow and Douglas Cottrell.

St. John High School prom king, David Simon, above, offered his arm to queen Ruth Vosters as they descended from the throne to the dance floor at Friday evening's festivities at the Little Chute school. At right, Neenah prom king Tom Mott complimented the wrist corsage worn by queen Pam Peters. The couple reigned over the annual dance, set in medieval surroundings. Decorations included shields and coats of arms. The crowns worn by the pair were also symbolic of King Arthur's time.

Party gowns were the subject of admiration when St. John High School dancers took time from the dance floor to visit. A patio was the perfect place for groups to gather. ## Jaycettes Seek Space For Nursery

KAUKAUNA — Jaycettes have written a letter to the city, referred to the finance committee of the council, asking for help in locating quarters in which to house a pre-school nursery contemplated this fall.

The organization has conducted several fund raising projects to help finance such a venture for 4- and 5-year olds who do not reach age requirements for attendance at kindergarten in fall.

Plans call for the school to be held three mornings a week from 9 to 11 a.m. with a qualified teacher in charge.

The group seeks an area with 700 square feet of floor space, adequate washroom facilities, rooms for storage, two exits to quarters, stairs must be equipped with railings, a play area outside the quarters should be available, drinking water must be available and the quarters must be well lighted and ventilated.

The Jaycettes indicated it would assume rental costs for such an area. Enrollment in the pre-school nursery will be limited with students accepted on a "first come" basis.

Our Children Self-Defense First Law of Nature, Also of Boyhood

BY ANGELO PATRI

Boys between the ages of 9 to 12, roughly measuring, are likely to fight among themselves. It is the indication of their budding masculinity, their need to prove their ability to hold their own among men. Parents and teach- ers, having discarded that feeling of necessity to show their strength in that fashion, dislike the idea and talk it down with stern de- termination. That too, is necessary for we want the children to leave that phase of growth behind them as soon as possible. But, and this is essential to the health of the boy's body and mind, don't make him feel like a criminal because he "gave him a poke."

Show Fitness

At this stage of growth a boy, and a girl, too, must show him- self fit and able to withstand any attack on his person or personal- ity. If he runs away, he becomes the victim of the group. They will taunt him with his weakness, his cowardice, and chase him into the very doorway of his house.

The best way we found to man- age this was to teach that the first one to strike a blow was the one at fault, not the one who hit back. He had to strike back. Self- defense is the first law of nature and it is the primary law of boy- hood. When a boy comes home showing signs of wear, attend to his hurts first, the spiritual hurts as well as the physical ones, when he is cooled off, get his story to fight about fighting you can manage without injury to your own sci- ence.

Turn Cheek

It is Christian to turn the other cheek but that is an attitude of saintliness far removed from the character of a sturdy youngster of nine to twelve. There must be few lads of that maturity of soul. I have never met with one. All we can do, all I believe we should do, is to teach patience, to slow the spirit of anger and slow too the urge to strike first. In time, with experience and instruction, this passes.

And what do we do with the ones who run for home the minute a battling youngster says "Boo"? Those who refuse to stand up for their rights and yield their bikes, their balls and bats to the aggres- sor? Ask the pediatrician to exam- ine them and prescribe for them if necessary. Usually such chil- dren lack the physical stamina to defend themselves. Showing them into a fight is not the answer any more than tossing a child into the water to make a swimmer of him is the answer to that problem. Be kind, speak gently, comfort such a child, and get help for him, for he needs it.

The Ailing House Gives Mix To Remove Calcimine

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: What is the formula for removing calcimine from ceilings and walls?—Guelph, Ont.

A: Working on a small section at a time, sponge the surfaces with fairly warm water. First sponge the area to loosen the calcimine, then wring out the sponge and wipe off the coating. After rinsing the sponge thoroughly, repeat the process. Adding a little household ammonia to the water makes removal easier. For stubborn calcimine, add a cup of washing soda to the pail of water, being sure to wipe up any spilt solution on painted surfaces immediately.

DETERIORATED WOOD FLOOR

Q: Our summer cottage is two years old and has a grade level concrete slab about six inches thick. On top of this slab there is a three-quarter-inch plywood floor. We put down linoleum on the plywood wall to wall. Now, after two winters, the linoleum has cracked and broken in many places. The cottage is not occupied or heated during the winter. After removal of the linoleum, we discovered the plywood to be wet and the glue dissolved between the plywood sheets. There is an air space of about one and one-fourth inch between plywood and cement slab, the plywood being held down by nailing to the furring strips embedded in the concrete. The condensation has deteriorated the plywood floor. What recommendations do you have on the restoration of the floor? What type of floor covering to apply to prevent this damage again?

How Do You Know It's Right?

Wallpaper, fabric and paint color the dealer offers. Take it home or look so different when they're and pin it up on the walls, first installed at home than they did on one and then on another, be in the store. How can you be cause light in the room hits differently to make the right selections? ferent walls differently.

Nothing matches the ability to visualize the creating of a necessary for paint color. The successful room with a saving of time and trouble — money, too, because almost every home furnishings mistake is a costly one. But the ability to visualize must be trained for years before it's ferent from the same paint in a shadowy corner. Paint a sample board and try it on the walls, one by one. Mix to change the paint until the sample seems right, then paint patches of the color on the walls for more study.

Large samples of fabric to take home are seldom available, but how you look at a pattern in the store helps to guide the right choice. If the fabric is for draperies, don't judge it by the way it looks on the bolt. Again, it will never be seen that way. Pick up an end length and drape it to make sure you know how the fabric looks hanging in folds. It isn't at all rash to buy a half-yard of fabric for experiment if there's doubt about its rightness — and your ability to visualize. The money isn't wasted if the fabric proves successful, nor even if the try-out at home proves that that particular choice is wrong because a costly mistake is avoided. Pin fabric samples to the curtains and draperies already at the windows to see how the light strikes them, whether the pattern is too large or too small for the room, and how they go with other furnishings. Try other samples on furniture to be slipcovered or upholstered.

Take your time about making decisions. Live with samples a few days and they will either assure you or change your mind. orate unless protected by waterproofing (as you discovered). This can be done by coating the concrete with liquid asphalt waterproofing (as you discovered). This can be done by coating the concrete with liquid asphalt waterproofing, then putting down a layer of overlapping (for half their width) sheets of heavy asphalt-saturated felt, and mopping asphalt waterproofing between the laps. Then the furring strips (or "sleepers") can be placed on the felt, or in an asphalt mastic cement.

Linoleum is generally not recommended for use on concrete in contact with the ground; however, over a wood floor, there is one containing a layer of waterproofing resistant to dampness which might be used. Floor covering dealers recommended asphalt tile, vinyl or rubber tile for use on concrete on grade; be sure to use the recommended adhesive in installing the tile.

Local Government Must Modernize

involved and tax dollars come from business and industry," he said.

Minahan drew on a local example, the inability of Outagamie and Winnebago counties to get together on building a single airport of adequate size.

One is Needed

"We are going to build two airports where one is needed. This is a kind of argument which evolves because government structure is obsolete," he said.

The Fox Cities area is a good example that county boundaries drawn more than 100 years ago and Wisconsin having 72 counties does not make much sense under contemporary circumstances.

"But you go to a group of local businessmen, or even local politicians, and ask about reorganizing local government in a modern up-to-date fashion and generally speaking somebody says 'We ought to do something about that some day' and that's the end of it," Minahan reported.

Save Tax Dollars

While local calls for businessmen to be tried to save their tax dollars by helping with a modern structure of local government, Minahan said the opposite has often been true in Wisconsin.

This has been true particularly in the battles between Wisconsin cities and suburbs, he said.

Minahan said the 1939 high school district law has the effect of forcing suburban high school students on city schools. Yet, he said, businessmen supporting schools through city taxes have shown no interest in the law.

Owners of large industries in cities paying large tax bills there are often found on the side of their residential suburbs in disputes with cities, he said.

Work Against It

"They pay their big taxes in the city and then work against it," he said.

Some of the people who are fostering it, battling cities, are actually people who should be interested in changing things," Minahan said.

Minahan, a leader in organization of the Fox Valley Planning Commission, said there are two preliminary steps toward setting local government structure needed for today's conditions.

The first, he said is building a spirit of cooperation among communities, something businessmen should be taking the lead in.

The other is supporting planning projects of all kinds, with emphasis on county-level plans where possible and regional plans for metropolitan areas spilling over county lines, he said.

The administration's tax incentive proposal was outlined by Eugene Foley, a deputy secretary of commerce.

Foley said the program is needed to pull up the United States under house arrest. They will be subject to severe punishment, he said, "if any serious crimes by them are uncovered."

Chang said he based his forecast of good relations between the U. S. government and his regime on the fact that "our armed forces... have had closer relations with U. S. authorities than any other Korean agency."

In Washington, Undersecretary of State Chester Bowles said the United States can hardly cheer at the upsetting of a constitutional government, but that he thought the new regime would be recognized.

Mission Resumes Work

A spokesman for the U. S. operation mission, which this year will dispense some $200 million in aid to South Korea, said work was resumed Thursday on all projects on the planning boards or under construction.

As censorship was broadened, Korean radio stations were ordered to quit relaying the Voice of America's twice-a-day news programs in the Korean language. The object was to keep any criticism of the military government from the people.

Newspapers were carefully checked by censors. Anything critical of the army revolt was deleted from both local stories and dispatches from overseas. The papers also were ordered to quit publishing blank or scarred spaces to indicate censored matter.

Guards openly threatened local and foreign cameramen with loss of their film if they took photographs without permission.

Newsmen Arrested

Competent sources said 10 newsmen were under arrest. Publishers of Seoul dailies met and decided to appeal to the junta to relax censorship and prevent mistreatment of newsmen by troops.

Foreign correspondents so far were able to file outgoing dispatches without interference, but photo shipments were censored.

Driver Shaken, Hangs Himself After Accident

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—A truck driven by Boniface Nita collided with a car between Czeszochowa and Krakow in southern Poland.

The French couple in the car in Poland to visit relatives, were killed.

The Polish Press Agency said Nita "experienced an unusually cold water on theories that the strong shock in the accident and, under the influence of this nervous upset, committed suicide by hanging himself to a roadside tree."

A ski race has been scheduled for May 27 on the east snow field of the mountain to mark the centennial celebration.

Kennedy and Khrushchev to Meet June 3-4

for international problems" in which other countries have direct interest. It left no doubt that all those problems will be discussed as either Kennedy or Khrushchev wishes to raise them.

2 Major Points

Specifically, authorities here said Kennedy wants to make two major points to the Soviet leader.

First, the President wants to appeal to him to modify Russia's position in the nuclear test talks at Geneva in an effort to save those talks from the total failure now threatening because of East-West deadlock over provisions for an international inspection system.

Second, the president wants to warn Khrushchev of the dangers of miscalculation in Moscow of U.S. determination to stand firm in defense of the countries to which it is committed, in spite of the setbacks in Cuba and Laos.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said Kennedy will make the trip on the morning of June 3. It is approximately a two-hour flight.

Kennedy, the statement said, "will depart London for Washington late in the evening" of June 5, while Mrs. Kennedy will remain with her sister in London for several days.

The schedule will get Kennedy back to the United States much too late to keep a scheduled date for a speech at West Virginia University June 5.

No Word on Speech

As late as Thursday afternoon Salinger had said there was no change in the President's commitment to speak at the university.

Today in announcing Kennedy's revised plans Salinger gave no information on what would be done about the engagement at the university.

The announcement said the agreement to meet in Vienna followed "discussions through diplomatic channels which began last March and an exchange of communications."

Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov called on Kennedy last Tuesday and delivered a message from Khrushchev.

Messages have gone back and forth between the White House and the Kremlin since Kennedy was inaugurated Jan. 20.

"The President and Chairman Khrushchev understand that this meeting is not for the purpose of negotiating or reaching agreement on the major international problems that involve the interest of many other countries," the announcement said.

Broad Wording

"The meeting will, however, afford a timely and convenient opportunity for the first personal contact between them and a general exchange of views on the major issues which affect the relationship between the two countries."

That wording was wide enough to cover every major problem, present or imminent, in the world now—the deadlocked nuclear test talks at Geneva, the crisis in Southeast Asia, the future of the United Nations, the long dispute over West Berlin, the nuclear weapons race, disarmament, and many others.

The announcement did not emphasize a need for discussion of any topic or group of topics although it is understood that Kennedy intends to concentrate primarily on trying to get Khrushchev to modify the Soviet position on the nuclear test talks and thereby open new hope for some agreement.

An announcement in London said the Kennedys will dine with Queen Elizabeth II June 5.

grand jury but declined to identify them, although it was learned April Flowers had been ordered to testify.

The FBI entered the case the day after Ratterman was arrested.

Meanwhile, squad of undercover agents hand-picked by U. S. Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy was reported in the area gathering information on gamblers and racketeers. Internal revenue service agents were reported working with the agents.

Newport, just across the Ohio river from Cincinnati, has a long reputation as being a wide open city where gambling and prostitution flourished.

Ratterman, father of eight children, said in his testimony yesterday that he agreed to become a candidate for sheriff because he felt a group of citizens seeking reform were sincerely interested in cleaning up the community.

Ratterman in his testimony explained why he was running for sheriff and of the early moves to arrange the meeting which ended in his arrest. His attorney said this was to show that plans to frame Ratterman began on April 5, the day after he announced for sheriff.

County Boards Oppose Bill on Retirement

Measure Would Cost Outagamie $84,000 Yearly

MADISON (AP)—County board representatives Thursday registered strong objections to a bill that would force all counties outside Milwaukee to place their employees under the Wisconsin Retirement Fund.

The measure would cost affected counties a total of $750,000 a year for 40 years, Thelen told the Legislature's Joint Finance Committee. He said these funds would be needed "in order to catch up on former service credits of new employees coming under the program."

Figures the group supplied indicated the joining of the retirement fund would cost counties amounts ranging from $13,864 for Pepin County to $84,042 for Outagamie County.

There are 27 counties not now participating in the State Retirement Fund, according to the joint survey committee on retirement systems, which endorsed the proposal. Milwaukee County has its own system.

The mandatory participation bill was introduced by Sen. Reuben LaFave, R-Oconto. He said it would make all county employees "equal under retirement law" and eliminate the "second class citizen status" of those who now support the program with their tax dollars but miss the benefits.

Doctor Believes Antarctic May Hold Treasure

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Antarctic may hold a treasure of wonder drugs, waiting to be tapped.

This is the view of Dr. Albert Crary of the National Science Foundation.

Crary, one of the nation's foremost polar scientists, has just returned from long-term service in the cold lands.

In a talk to the foundation's headquarters staff, he said, "We have found that animals in the antarctic are relatively free of bacteria, and it has been suggested that this may be due to the possible presence of antibiotics in algae plants there. This should be followed up."

Algae are tiny fungus-like plants that grow in the sea or on moist ground, and often occur as scum atop ponds.

Crary, chief scientist of the U.S. Antarctic program, threw to would-be smugglers at New York's International Airport Big strong shock in the accident and, under the influence of this nervous upset, committed suicide by hanging himself to a roadside tree.

State Employees Get Pay Increase

MADISON (AP)—A compromise bill providing pay increases for Wisconsin's 16,000 Civil Service employees has been sent to the Joint Finance Committee.

The $5.5 million pay increase measure was sent to the legislative committee after agreement was reached on most points by the State Employees Association and the Department of Administration.

The bill calls for an average pay boost for state workers of 5.4 per cent this year and 2.6 per cent in 1962.

Crary said, "I don't think any commercial uses will develop from the geology of the Antarctic."

EASY WAY TO WEED!

Attach the light weight ORTHO Lawn Sprayer to your garden hose and let water pressure do the work. As easy as watering, you spray 15 gallons of properly diluted WEED-B-GON spray.

SPRAY WITH WEED-B-GON

Kill a weed with Improved WEED-B-GON and that weed is gone for good! Roots, stems and foliage, blossoms and seeds on the plant, all die after one application. (Toughest weeds may take two.) The reason: WEED-B-GON's hormone ingredients (2, 4-D and 2, 4, 5-T) force weeds to grow so fast they actually "grow themselves to death."

WEED-B-GON works faster and more effectively than other leading weed killers because it contains a heavier concentration of hormones. Yet it doesn't cost one cent more. A quart of WEED-B-GON sprays the average (1200 sq. ft.) lawn 15 times. And the quart can costs only $2.98.

Kill poison oak and poison Ivy, too, with WEED-B-GON!

ORTHO

Wipe out weeds and grass in patios, driveways, walks with TRIOX!

A single sprinkling of powerful TRIOX clears away loss of plant growth—and for periods of 1 to 2 years! TRIOX not only kills weeds, it prevents growth. Cost is low—$1.19 a quart, or about 1 1/4¢ per sq. yd.

Lard Truck Not Unloaded At Elm Tree

Sheriff Called By Company, but No Violence Reported

A tank truck with 30,000 pounds of melted lard from a Cudahy firm left Elm Tree Bakeries, 3300 W. College Ave., about 5 a.m. today, without being unloaded.

The truck arrived late last night, but did not enter the bakery property because of a Teamster union picket line.

Fifteen Elm Tree drivers are picketing the plant. They were discharged Tuesday on charges of insubordination. Tuesday night they joined the Teamsters.

According to the records at the Outagamie County sheriff's office, Richard Pfeiffer, an Elm Tree official, called at 11:55 p.m. requesting police officers because there might be trouble with the pickets when the truck arrived.

Not Violence
Robert Schieve, secretary-treasurer of the local Teamsters Union, said he had instructed the pickets and union personnel previously not to cause any trouble and not to interfere with deliveries in or out of the plant.

Four squads of county police went to the bakery but no violence broke out. Lt. Jack Zuelke said today.

"We did caution a couple of people to behave themselves," he said.

Elm Tree personnel drove the truck to the back of the plant to try to unload it, but were unable to get the lard out of the truck, and later turned the truck back over to its driver, according to reports from the sheriff's office and union officials.

May Have to Change New Nickel Meters

It looks like Appleton's new ordinance on parking meter rates is going to have to be amended, or some meters are going to have to be changed so they again will operate with pennies.

The city's parking meter department installed meters west of Walnut Street and east of Durkee Street that will use only nickels and give one hour of parking time.

The new ordinance did not provide for eliminating the use of pennies in these areas. In the section between Walnut and Durkee, new meters will be installed that will give 30 minutes for five cents, as stipulated in the ordinance.

Ald. Robert Stumpf, chairman of the public safety committee, said today apparently a mistake had been made when the ordinance was written. He said his committee approved eliminating the use of all pennies.

He said his committee will discuss the situation May 23, to decide if the ordinance should be amended or if pennies will be allowed.

Left Car on Tracks, Pays Fine for Reckless Driving

OSHKOSH — Donald Fritz, 32, 421 E. Wolf River Drive, New London, whose car stalled on the Chicago and North Western Railroad tracks north of Neenah, paid a fine of $93.85 this morning for reckless driving.

Winnebago County Police said Fritz's car missed the curve on Wood Road in the Town of Menasha, near the intersection of U.S. 41 and County Trunk PP. The car traveled 75 feet after leaving the road and another 30 feet along the railroad tracks, where it stalled. Fritz left the car on the tracks and went to call the county police.

With the assistance of Neenah police, a train was stopped until a wrecker could move the car. Fritz told Municipal Judge Arnold J. Cane he tried for an hour to wave down cars on 41. Police found him at a nearby restaurant after the car was moved.

Colburn Cherney Elected 8th District GOP Chairman

Talbot Peterson, Appleton, Loses Bid for Post at Party Caucus by Margin of 231-149

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY—Colburn G. Cherney, a Green Bay attorney, was elected Eighth District Republican chairman at the party's annual caucus Thursday night at the Beaumont Hotel. Cherney, who has served for eight years as Brown County GOP chairman, succeeds W. E. MacEachron, Manitowish, who declined to seek re-election after serving in the top district post for the past 10 years.

In the first chairman contest in several years, Cherney defeated Talbot Peterson, an Appleton industrialist. The vote was 231 for Cherney to 149 for Peterson. Ballots were cast by the 206 caucus delegates attending with voting strength based on the Republican vote turnout last fall in each of the nine counties in the district.

In all 368 votes were divided among the delegations.

Has Campaigned
Cherney, who has campaigned for the post for the past two months, captured all 167 votes assigned to Brown County. He also received unanimous support in the following counties: Oconto, 26; Kewaunee, 17; Forest, 8; good, clean fight is not something we should not fear," he called for election of a chairman with practical political experience, solid background and solid ideas, secretary of the Valley Iron and Works, Appleton. He first announced on Wednesday that he would enter the race for district 1962 elections.

Peterson, who formerly served as Outagamie County Republican chairman, is vice president and secretary of the Valley Iron and Works, Appleton. He first announced on Wednesday that he would enter the race for district 1962 elections.

Cherney's name was placed in nomination by James H. Pier, Oconto, and was second by Clifford Vandewall, Marinette, and Alfred Cookson, Green Bay. Peterson was nominated by Leonard E. Pasek, Appleton, and Mark Catlin, Appleton, seconded the nomination. Catlin said the Eighth District is one of the most important for the Republicans in the state and represents "the greatest single hope of the Republican party returning to administrative office in the state."

In acceptance talks, Cherney called for renewed vote-getting efforts in the district, including telephone campaigning, voter registration and recruitment of high caliber candidates for courthouse for building new factories which are merely a relocation with closing of a plant someplace else. Carley said his agency will help in the preparation of the local economic plans and administrative Wisconsin applications. A manual telling how to do it will be available by June 15, he said.

But the delegations from northern towns were among the most attentive and had come the long way searching for answers. Many were there for an explanation of the Distressed Areas Act. David Carley, director of the state agency, complained that there has been a lot of premature counting on the act "partly from inexcusable publicity by some members of the Wisconsin congressional delegation." The fact is, he said, that not one area of the state is yet qualified for the federal aid.

The act will offer help in urban areas of persistent unemployment of more than six per cent. Roterus said there are 110 such areas, none in Wisconsin.

Provide Aid
It also could provide aid, under qualifications still to be established, in unemployment areas among 15,000 labor force towns and among areas with no central large city. Roterus said parts of Wisconsin could come under this part of the law.

The second qualification is for the areas to have sound economic plans worked out and a providing of at least 10 to 15 per cent of the money.

"The matter of organizing an economic development program, the raising of the 10 to 15 per cent, and the getting of the prospect is your responsibility. This is not an automatic cure for problems," Roterus said.

Public Facilities
The act provides loans totaling $100-million for commercial projects in distressed urban areas, like amounts for commercial projects in rural areas and for public facilities in both urban and rural areas, and $75-million for outright grants for public projects. Loans for public projects will only be for those which produce long-range employment. Roterus said.

Committees Deny Petition For Integration at Seymour

Members Go Along With Majority Of Speakers at School Hearing

BY BONNIE BARSTOW
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

SEYMOUR—Outagamie, Shawano and Brown County School Committees met with the school boards involved in the matter, along with representatives of a majority of the citizens of the three counties, to discuss the integration of Seymour Union High School District and 29 elementary schools within its boundaries.

William Sever, City of Seymour, was the only one of 18 committee members who voted against denial.

Throughout the hearing, the audience felt that the committees favored integration. Several committee members indicated support for it.

People speaking at the hearing were about three to two against the proposal. Some of them were vehement in their opposition.

"We're not interested in social education," said a citizen.

"Someone said we're not interested in education, but we would make leaders out of our children."

More Aids

Outagamie County Supt. Henry J. Van Straten told the audience of more than 300 people that according to present law, if Seymour area integrated and met state standards, state aid would go up. This doesn't guarantee high aids in the future, he explained.

Then promises of higher and lower taxes are "like cheese on a mousetrap," a man replied.

Elmer Ulmer Isaac called the drastic reduction in school board members, which integration would cause, "one step closer to communism."

Audience Applauds

B. J. Mares Bear Creek, who presided, said that the committees didn't want to hear lengthy testimony or applause.

A man asked why he couldn't applaud.

"Isn't that why we're here?" The audience applauded.

Another man asked if the committee could ask a standing vote of the audience, because some people were too bashful to speak.

The committees said no.

Later another man shouted, "All you re-bloated Americans exposed to integration stand up!"

About half the audience stood up.

The committee said we couldn't do it," he said proudly.

The audience applauded.

Dormitories to be Built at Oshkosh For State College

OSHKOSH — Several dormitories for Oshkosh State College students are being planned by a Milwaukee firm, Thrifty Builders. The dormitories will be built on the area near the college athletic field on privately-owned land.

Oshkosh council members Wednesday night approved extending sewer and water into the area as well as building a sidewalk and street.

The site is off Annex Avenue and in the area west of Jackson Street and north of W. New York Avenue.

The council ordered water and sanitary sewer mains installed on Eagle and Jackson Streets.

A portion with 129 signers protesting a go part track at the Municipal Athletic Field on Sawyer Avenue was filed with the council. A contract for the track already has been granted by the park board. The city attorney is to confer with the attorney for the track operator and the attorney for the petitioners to work out a solution.

Delegates named to committees for the Republican state convention at Eau Claire June 10 were:

State Sen. Reuben La Fave, Oconto, and Mrs. Louis Plocek, Outagamie, the most Republican county in the 8th District, started to pick up support against the lethargy and inaction that has typified the 8th District since Sen. Al Laun resigned in 1954.

"We can only hope that Colburn Cherney means what he says and he will exert his best effort to put life back into the party at the district level. If he doesn't, the 8th District will go down the drain," said La Fave.

Speakers at the caucus included Lt. Gov. Warren Knowles who declared that with passage of the $492 million state budget the legislature will now be confronted with "Operation face-up-to-it" in providing tax revenues to finance increasing governmental services. He said tax revision will require "a courageous bipartisan approach."

Major Objective

A major objective of industrial and economic development, the lieutenant governor said, should be to increase the incomes of citizens so that they will have the means to help pay the increased costs of government. He cited figures showing 49 per cent of the total tax revenue.

Mrs. Dena Smith, state treasurer, hit back at what she termed "the governor's bright idea to eliminate my signature from all state checks." She said clearing of checks through her office was needed to keep a rein on state spending.

Resolutions passed without debate or objection call for an end of overlapping in state governmental services, and a restatement of the party's position on convention endorsement of candidates. Other resolutions cited Rep. Byrnes, former Assemblyman Frank N. Graess, Sturgeon Bay, who served in the legislature over a period of 42 years, and MacEachron and Mrs. Schroeder, the outgoing district officers.

Man Admits Firing Shot

He was not breathing when found, and artificial respiration was applied.

Back to Window

Mrs. Hughes' back was turned to the window and she was just turning out the basement light when the shot was fired. She was released from St. Elizabeth Hospital two days later.

French told police he had known Mrs. Hughes for two years and that he was in love with her. On the day of the shooting he confessed, Mrs. Hughes said she never wanted to see him again. He said he was angry and set out to shoot her.

While he laid unconscious, one of his lungs collapsed. A pipe was inserted in his throat to make breathing easier. For the entire 11 days he was fed intravenously. Doctors had to drain his lungs at frequent intervals.

To Crime Lab

The pistol found in French's car and the bullet found on the floor of the basement were sent to the state crime laboratory at Madison. They are still being examined there.

No charges have been filed. The district attorney must decide upon the charges. Outagamie County Dist. Atty. Nick Schaefer has been in Chicago this week and is expected to return to duty Monday.

There is some question about where French will be tried, police said. The shooting occurred in Calumet County, but close to the Appleton city limits.

Help Asked in Finding Orbit Of Satellite

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (UPI)—Satellite tracking stations around the world were asked today to help track a "suspected, unpredicted bright satellite."

The order went out from Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory after the strange satellite was spotted yesterday at Jupiter. Fla.

"We're trying to get other sightings and get an orbit," said George Weron, Smithsonian's chief of public and technical information.

Weron said there were more than 50 satellites and rocket bodies whirling around the world and "it sometimes happens" that one is picked up which does not match any of the known orbits.

Doubt Satellite New

He said scientists had no reason yet to believe the satellite was "anything new or mysterious" and that such orbiting mavericks were spotted "with some regularity."

The first word of the Smithsonian tracking order came from Clifton Marsh, head of an observatory at Haleakala, Hawaii, one of a ring of high powered, telescopic camera stations used to plot the course of satellites.

Smithsonian informed the tracking stations the satellite was that bright as Echo I and men and a woman in a "three-would easily be seen by the seater" space ship.

Spring Lunacy

Never a Dull Moment In Prom King Election

There was gunplay around Lawrence College's usually sedate Main Hall Thursday morning as a band of "feds" brought down mathematics instructor Arthur Coxford into a pool of something red but not very sticky.

It was all a part of the annual spring lunacy — prom king campaign — in which candidates adopt flamboyant personalities and stage stunts to match.

The candidacy of Donald Patterson, Whiting Court, and his wife Ellen, was promoted by members of Phi Kappa Tau fraternity, who cast Patterson in the role of Elliot Press, FBI agent, and attired his followers in costumes of the Roaring 20s.

Lights, Camera, Action

Coxford, billed as one of the campus's "most wanted men" was arrested by federal forces on Wednesday, rumored to be escaped, and finally came gun to gun with the Press forces once more behind Main Hall. He was shot, he crumpled in approved soap opera tradition, something red spurted from his vest in a neat arc, and he was carted off on a stretcher. But not before his suit coat was reduced to tatters by eager helping hands (it is rumored that the suit was previously purchased by participating feds).

The second candidate Richard Heinemann of Sturgeon Bay, moves in an Old Heidelberg atmosphere and had the assistance of Sigma Phi Epsilon's cigar-chewing German General Staff mounted on motorcycles and dressed in bits and pieces of mismatched military garb. "Dis is da proudest day since Chermey von da war," announced Head General John Dunning over the blare of the biestueue band the role of Elliot Press, FBI agent, and attired his followers in costumes of the Roaring 20s.

Whether the FBI or the Heidelberg forces win the balloting, all will be transported to Venice for the prom itself Saturday evening.

Lake Michigan May be Forced To Give Up a Victim of Waves

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

From the reluctant city of the dead beneath the hungry waters of Lake Michigan, a victim is seen to be recovered.

A skeleton "in pretty bad shape" was discovered last Saturday by two 25 year old SCUBA divers, Robert Keller and Peter Brecht, of Manitowish. They were probing the bulk of the Continental, a ship which sank time at the turn of the century.

The old derelict, its boilers now poked above water about 80 yards off shore near Rawley's Point at the Point Beach State Park, attracted the divers and then gave up its secret.

In water about 12 feet deep, Keller discovered the remains of a human, its lower torso partly buried by the shifting sands. Head and arms are missing and positive identification may be impossible.

Early recovery efforts have been thwarted by choppy waters. The final recovery must wait for favorable winds, according to Manitowish County's Sheriff Reuben Huntington. The United States Coast Guard and skin

San Juan Club Being Moved To Charleston

IL President Puts Blame on Economic Situation

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Charleston was back in organized baseball today, and the city could give Cuban Premier Fidel Castro some of the credit.

International League President Tommy Richardson came to town Wednesday night to confirm that the San Juan, Puerto Rico, club owned by millionaire William P. McDonald would be transferred here.

Charleston will open a three-game series today here with Jersey City at Watt Powell Park, which seats about 3,800.

"We had an unusual economic situation down there," Richardson said, "explaining why the club would be shifted from the island to this mountain community."

He said the Cuban troubles, and particularly the recent ill-fated invasion, has caused unrest and those fleeing from that island to Puerto Rico had created some economic hardships.

"The people just didn't have the money to go to the ball games," he said.

Wednesday night, MacDonald and General Manager Joe Ryan said "Internal pressure brought by member clubs and outside influences are forcing us to move."

Snead Shoots 65 to Lead Tourney by 2

Sam Feels He Has Shaken Putting 'Yips'

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (AP)—Sam Snead feels he has shaken the putting "yips" and that spells trouble for his golfing opponents.

Of course, once you get the putting yips, you never get rid of them entirely, said the West Virginia slammer who shrugged off the rain Thursday to grab a two-stroke lead in the opening round of the Sam Snead Festival.

"But you can shake the yips off once in a while," Snead said. "I had them so bad in 1949 that I got an entirely foreign putter and an entirely foreign way to putt and won twice as many tournaments as anybody else, twice as much money, and had the lowest stroke average of any of the pros."

"So what happens? Ben Hogan wins one tournament and is named golfer of the year. After that I decided to quit playing full-time on the circuit."

Only 29 Putts

Snead says he is using a new putter now and is following through more on his push. He needed only 29 putts Thursday while scoring a 65 on the par 70 old White course.

Holding down second place with a 67 at the start of today's 18-hole round was Bob Watson, 37, club pro from Elmsford, N. Y. Next with 68s were top money winner Gary Player, British Open champion Peter Thomson, and Mickey Hoza of Rye, N. Y. Bob Toski had a 69.

Arnold Palmer, nursing a bad cold, was deadlocked at 70 with five others—Chuck Harbert, Dave Douglas and three West Virginians, Mike Krak of Morgantown, Buddy Cook of Man and Joe Taylor of Charleston.

The rain threw a wet blanket on the play of most of the other 71 entries. Defending Champion Dave Marr turned in a 71.

Snead doesn't mind playing in the rain.

"I figure I won about as many tournaments in the rain, mud and sleet as I have in good weather," Snead said.

Washed Ashore

Nine months after the wreck the body of one of the missing men was washed up on the shore near Manitowish. He was Glen Roop of Kingsley, Michigan.

His companion, Sterling Nickerson Jr., also of Kingsley, has not been found, but Sheriff Huntington believes that the grim remains below the old Continental may be those of Nickerson.

"The prevailing winds have brought other bodies to the shores here," Huntington said, "and it is reasonable to believe that the bodies of Roop and Nickerson could be washed to the same approximate place."

The SCUBA "Self Contained Underwater Breathing Apparatus" diver who discovered the remains near the old ship thought it likely, he said, that Nickerson's body may have washed toward the beach here, a few miles north of Two Rivers, and been snagged on a part of the wrecked Continental.

To Crime Lab

The remains, when recovered, will be sent to the Crime Laboratory at Madison for tests which may be useful in identification.

Lake Michigan, however, greedy to take and reluctant to give up, may keep its grim secret forever. But the old wreck of the Continental, its fortunes half-forgotten in the some 60 years it has lain on the sandy bottom has done one more job and helped to return a missing person.

Price Hopes Carry Back Stays Closer to Pace

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—"If you can beat Carry Back, you can win," is the way trainer John Jacobs views Saturday's Preakness.

And so does just about everyone else.

"That little fellow is a rough customer," says Jacobs, who trains Dr. Miller for his mother, Ethel Jacobs.

Jacobs has good reason to respect Mr. and Mrs. Jack Price's daughter Carry Back and so should handlers of the other seven colts expected to be entered today in the Preakness.

Hi-Length Deficit

The main son of Sadler proved in the Kentucky Derby two weeks ago he can never be controlled out. He overcame a disadvantage of 1 1/2 lengths in the last quarter of a mile in beating Citeaux.

It was the fifth victory for Carry Back in eight two-year-old races and stamped him as the one to be beaten for the Preakness championship. In addition to Dr. Miller and Citeaux, Carry Back faced

Ask Ordinance Alteration on Refuse Areas

Winnebago Board to Act June 6 on New Dump, Junkyard Rule

OSHKOSH — Changes in the county zoning ordinance regarding automobile wrecking yards and public dumping grounds will be recommended to the County Board at its June 6 meeting as the result of a hearing by the zoning board.

Present regulations require that an automobile wrecking yard be set back 750 feet from any residential area. Public dumping grounds at present also must be not less than one-half mile away from any residential area.

The suggested change is to have automobile wrecking yards in commercial B, or heavy commercial districts, and not less than one-quarter mile away from any residential area. Public dumping grounds may be continued in agricultural zones with the distance also being cut from a half-mile to one-quarter mile from any residential area.

Rezone Areas

The zoning board also is recommending rezoning, from residential to commercial A, the site owned by John M. Olson on State 47 in the Town of Menasha to permit building of a store.

The request of Lester Laedike for rezoning, from residential and agricultural to commercial A, a site on County Trunk T east of Larsen is being recommended for approval. Laedike plans to build a new home which will contain one room for a beauty parlor.

Favorable action also is being recommended on the request of Fox Valley Canning Co. to locate a pea viner on a site in the Town of Clayton. The canning company has agreed to certain requests to meet the objections of a near-by property owner such as removing the vines to prevent an odor and keeping the surrounding land partially plowed to prevent grass fire.

The zoning board also reviewed the proposed zoning map for the Town of Neenah which will be presented to the County Board June 6.

Burdette Will Face O'Toole In Cincinnati

Del Crandall Sent Back to Milwaukee To See Physician

CINCINNATI (AP) — Catcher Del Crandall of the Braves was sent home to Milwaukee Thursday for a further examination of an inflamed tendon in his right shoulder that put him on the bench April 24.

"I don't know what to make of it," said Manager Charlie Dressen. "One doctor tells him to go to work and another tells him to rest. We'll have to know pretty soon who is right."

Crandall will be under the treatment of Dr. Bruce Brewer, an orthopedic specialist.

Four-Game Set

Milwaukee opens a four-game series with Cincinnati tonight that has Lew Burdette, 3-1, of the Braves opposing Jim O'Toole, 3-3. John McHale, the general manager of the Braves, arrived Thursday and indications were a decision would be reached soon in naming a catcher to help Charlie Lau if Crandall is kept on the bench.

Henry Aaron, still bothered by a left leg injury, said he expected to play tonight.

Dressen is expected to have Don Nottebart pitch for Milwaukee Saturday afternoon against Ken Hunt. The teams play a doubleheader Sunday.

Conference Meet Will Be Played Here Saturday

A fierce struggle for Fox River Valley Conference tennis supremacy between Oshkosh and Manitowoc looms here Saturday. The tournament on the Appleton High School courts begins at 9 a.m.

Both Oshkosh and Manitowoc are undefeated for the season. The defending champion Indians have won 13 straight dual meets. Eight this year. Manty, lost FRVC honors in '60 for the first time in four years but won the state championship.

Oshkosh is headed by Chuck Bleckinger, state and FRVC singles champ, winner of 49 straight matches. Oshkosh's Ray Werner and Tom Witasek will defend their FRVC doubles title.

Manitowoc's pace-setters are Dave Kahlitz, Dean Eisner and Paul Meany.

Macs to Open FRVL Title Defense Against Freedom

BY JIM HARP Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The Fox River Valley Baseball League, fastest amateur circuit in the area, will begin play Sunday with four games scheduled.

Three new teams are members of the circuit this season, and there are five holdovers from last year.

The schedule for Sunday sends the defending champion Menasha Macs to Freedom, Little Chute-Kimberly to Green Bay, Kaukauna to Harrison, and Fond du Lac to Morrison.

Same Personnel

The Macs, with much the same personnel that won the crown last season, are expected to be strong again. Gene Gries, Jim Meyer and Tom Balhazor head a tough mound corps. Gries or Meyer is expected to get the nod against Freedom Sunday.

LCK will undoubtedly be stronger this season with Al Harke. Hank Peerenboom and Tom Vandergas rejoining the team for full-time duty. Peerenboom was in service and Vandergas was in LaCrosse for most of the 1960 campaign.

Harke or Bob Schmidt is expected to hurl for the Papermakers against Green Bay Sunday. Faye Mehlberg will also be available. The game will be played at Bay Beach Park.

Little is known of the potential of Green Bay, Fond du Lac and Morrison. Green Bay has picked up several players who formerly played with the Green Bay Dodgers of the Three-I League. Fond du Lac's roster includes some standouts of the American Legion team that won state honors several years ago.

Darkhorse Contender
Kaukauna is rated as a darkhorse contender for the crown. The Klubbbers have looked impressive in a pair of exhibition games, blanking Black Creek and New London.

Harrison will be without the services of ace hurler Joe DeBruin who suffered a back injury in a fall and has been hospitalized.

The league will play two rounds of seven games each with the champions of each round meeting in a post-season playoff. The annual all-star game has been scheduled for July 15.

Bulldogs End 11-Game Hortonville, Schmelzel Skeins in District Final

Squeeze Home Run in Seventh For 2-1 Victory

HORTONVILLE — Two season-long winning streaks came to an end here Thursday—in dramatic fashion—in the finals of district baseball tournament play.

New London High squeezed home a run in the last half of the seventh (final) inning for a 2-1 victory over Hortonville. The setback snapped 11-game victory streaks for the Polar Bears and for their ace senior right-hander Fran Schmelzel.

Schmelzel had been the winning hurler as Hortonville copped its first 11 games, going into Thursday's tilt.

New London will meet the winner of today's Clintonville-Marion (Manawa District title) game for the right to enter the sectional.

Winckler Wins
The Bulldogs' Jim Winckler went all the way against Hortonville, hurling a 7-hitter. He struck out five and walked none. Schmelzel allowed six hits struck out eight and walked two. New London had one error, Hortonville three.

Hortonville took a 1-0 lead in the first inning. Rog Mulroy singled and Mulroy scouted home when Herm Schwrebs hit a single which was bobbled for an error. The Bulldogs tied it in the fourth after two were out. Winckler reached base on an error; stole second and scored on a

Joe Puleo Gains Win In Relief

BY RALPH MUELLER Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Continuing on a sparse diet of base hits but stretching them into just enough runs to win, the Fox Cities Foxes defeated the Burlington Bees in 13 innings, 2-1, Thursday night in the opener of a 3-game series at Goodland Field.

The hero of the game was a young California lad, Jim Liggett, but not to be overlooked were a pint-sized right handed Puleo, and a tall skinny hurler, Dave Vineyard.

Liggett sent the fans home at approximately 11:27 p.m. with a line shot to center field scoring Joe Pulliam from second base with the winning run. Puleo had opened the frame with a walk, Pulliam forced him at second and went to second on Chuck Smiley's ground-out.

Dunlap Vs. Newman

The Foxes will go after their second in a row over the Bees tonight when they throw Jim Dunlap, who has a record of 3-0 including a share of a shutout over the Bees at Burlington. Fred Newman, who was originally signed by the Red Sox but was taken by the Los Angeles Angels in the expansion draft last winter, will take the hill for the Bees. Game time will be 8 p.m.

While it was Liggett who accounted for the winning marker, it was Vineyard and Puleo who combined to hold down the opposition. Vineyard scattered eight hits over the first eight innings with one exception, the fourth inning.

Ed Napoleon, Don Nipp, and Sandy Johnson managed successive hits to load the bases with nobody out, but the lanky hurler got Ronnie Brand to hit into a force play at the plate. Larry West to pop up and Vic Ramirez to ground to second.

Whiffs 5 Bees
Little Puleo came on in the ninth after Vineyard was lifted for a pinch hitter and whiffed five Bees in his four innings while displaying flawless control. Vineyard had struck out five and walked three.

Burlington got their only run, unearned variety, in the first with the help of an error and a ground out. Roberto Pena was safe on "Phoi" Anthony's low throw. He went to third on Tom Rink's single and scored when Art Blunt bounced to second base. The visitors suffered from a run famine for the next 12 innings.

The Foxes tallied their first run in the sixth and for a moment it was thought they had scored a second time. Anthony led off with a pretty bunt single, and after one out, Nellie Cochran walked. Jim Caldwell lined a single to left to score Anthony. Dick Vencha walked to load the bases. At this point, Cochran and the batter, Vineyard, attempted to pull the suicide squeeze, and Cochran was called safe by Plate Umpire Joe Ring after Vineyard missed the ball for strike three.

A flood of gray uniforms gathered around both Ring and the base umpire, Milt Goldstein, and an interference ruling resulted in Cochran being called out. The arbiters ruled that Vineyard should have vacated the batter's box during the play.

Larry West hurled 11 frames for Burlington, setting down 12 Foxes on strikes and sending 11 to first base on walks. His successor, Bob Priddy, lost his only decision this season on one earned run in two innings. Priddy walked three and fanned three.

The Burlington pitchers forced the Foxes to strand 17 base runners during the game. Fox Cities left the bases loaded in the third and went out with two men on in the fifth, sixth, eighth, 10th, and 12th innings. There were four frames in which they left only one man on base.

The losers left 10 men on the bases, leaving the bases jammed in the fourth, and two on in the seventh and 10th innings.

In addition to the disputed play on Cochran in the sixth which actually became a double play going from West, the pitcher, to Don Nipp, the catcher, there were two other dazzling double killers. Vineyard snagged Nipp's little floater and ran almost all the way to first to double off Napoleon. He finally threw to Anthony to complete the play.

The other twin killing resulted from a remarkable catch by Burlington's left fielder, Art Blunt. Blunt made an over-the-shoulder catch of Smiley's fly to left and doubled Pulliam off first base.

State Class C Track Meet Set Saturday

Jim Brockman, Of Freedom, Heads Milers

A record number of 20 schools have qualified trackmen for the State WIAA Class C meet Saturday at Ripon.

Included among the qualifiers are 11 from the Fox Cities area who placed either first or second in sectional meets.

Lena, with 75 per cent of its scoring punch back from last year's championship team again ranks as the favorite.

Area entrants include: Dennis Biederman, 100-yard dash; Ron Hansen, Brillion, high jump; Ken Belanger, Brillion, 100-yard dash; Jim Brockman, Freedom, mile; Roger Sorenson, Valdres, mile; Roman Jungers, Amherst, mile; John Olson, 100-yard dash; Lee Much, Marion, 880-yard run; and Dennis Carey, Amherst, 880-yard run.

Brockman recorded the best Class C sectional time in the mile—4:46.5. The Freedom star will be running against Crivitz Bill Croft, who won the state Class C mile last year. Croft's time in last week's sectional was 4:53.5.

The meet at Ripon begins at 1:15 p.m.

Wall, Cupit Lead Tourney

7-Under-Par Cards Give Pair Top Spot at Hot Springs

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—Art Wall and Buster Cupit set out to hold their two-stroke lead in the Hot Springs Open Golf Tournament's second round today while 92 other professional golfers scrambled to get within the "top 60" cutoff point.

The field will be cut after to-day's 18 holes. Thursday, 48 golfers shot par 72 or better over the 7,000-yard Hot Springs Country Club course.

Wall and Cupit fired 7-under-par 65s to take the early lead. Right behind them at 67 were Jerry Steelsmith and Mike Souchak. Then, at 68, came Doug Sanders, Julius Boros, Al Geiberger, Dave Ragan and Mason Rudolph.

Their hot putting and steady fairway games were inspirational to Wall and Cupit. It marked what Wall hopes is the end of a back ailment that has plagued him through the first 12 tournaments of the season. "The only time my back bothered me was when I made an improper swing," he said.

Wall, of Pocono Manor, Pa., shot a steady 31-34-65 with seven birdies. He missed by inches a 65-foot chip shot on the 18th hole. Cupit of Fort Smith, Ark., had a slightly more irregular round with eight birdies and a bogey.

6-0 Mark at Chattanooga

Warren Hacker Feels Comeback Is Possible

CHATTANOOGA (AP)—The al, before joining Chattanooga in its first year with the Phillie organization.

But Hacker, a trim 185 pounds on his 6-1 frame, figures he's not too old to bounce back to Philadelphia.

And the veteran major leaguer feels, at 36, that he's about ripe to make another trip back to the big leagues.

"I feel like I could help some club up there," Hacker said recently. "I've picked up two new pitches, a slider and a change-up. And my control has been perfect."

Rally to Win
Hacker, now 6-0 for Chattanooga in the Class AA Southern Association, won his doubleheader Sunday against Shreveport on a single hit, 1-0, in the first game and won the second game in relief as the Lookouts rallied to win, 6-5.

"That's the first time I've won two games in one day," he told a newsman. "I've won one starting and had a save in the second, though."

The slender, blond righthander has won as many as 20 games in a single season. That was the year he broke into pro baseball in 1946, with Pampa of the now-defunct and their class C West Texas-New Mexico League.

Played With Cubs
He's lost as many as 19 games in a single season. That was in Chicago, when he also won 12 games for the Cubs.

Hacker, who went to the majors in 1952, spent six full seasons with the Cubs. He divided his time in 1956 between Cincinnati and Philadelphia, and was sent to Philadelphia in the midst of the 1958 season to Miami of the Class AAA International League.

He spent the last two seasons in Buffalo, also of the International League.

Time Running Out on '500' Race Hopefuls

Final Trials Stated Friday, Sunday For May 30 Event

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Practice time was running out today for drivers and owners still hopeful of qualifying cars for the 500-mile race at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway May 30.

The final time trials will be run Friday and Sunday. Today was the last chance to get unqualified cars tuned for the 10-mile run.

Twenty-seven cars qualified last weekend, but their starting assignments are only tentative. The 33 fastest cars on the basis of time trials will start the race, and some of those already qualified could be bumped out of the lineup.

Speedway observers figured it will take a qualifying speed of 144 miles an hour to stay in the lineup. Nervous drivers among those already qualified would be Norm Hall of Los Angeles, low with 141.861 miles an hour; Bob Veith of Fort Bragg, Calif., 143.062, and Bob Cleberg of Tucson, Ariz., 143.672.

Once bumped, a car is out of the race, but the driver is free to hop into another and try to qualify again.

Barlament Hits 38 In Riverview Loop

Bob Barlament shot a 38—the best gross total—during the first session of the Men's Twilight Golf League at Riverview Wednesday. The low net scorers were: Dr. Guy Carlson, 34; Barlament, Don Morrissey and Fred Heimritz, 35s; and Jim Femal, 36.

The Barlament team took the point lead, with 27½. Tied for second (three points behind) are the Wright, Jaekels and Butler units.

Agree on Ground Rules for Cleaning Up Cage Scandals

NEW YORK (AP)—North Carolina District Solicitor Lester V. past.

He would not say whether he had any particular gamblers in mind or whether any gambling contacts in this state were involved. There were some indications, however, that the possible role of Aaron Wagman and Joseph Hackman in the North Carolina affair might be under discussion. Wagman and Hackman are under indictment in New York in other point-shaving cases.

The three North Carolina State players charged with taking bribes to shave points in games are Stan Niewierowski and Anton (Duch) Muehlbauer of Brooklyn and Terry Litchfield of Louisville.

Chalmers made that statement after a 2½ hour conference Thursday during which he and Alfred J. Scotti, New York County assistant district attorney, agreed on ground rules for their joint effort to clear up the mounting scandals. They were scheduled for another conference today.

Chalmers declined to elaborate on the matter of extradition nor would he say whether charges against three North Carolina State College players would be pressed.

"We agreed on a plan of action and that is that we've got a prime target — to get the gamblers," Chalmers said. "Our intention right now is to clean this mess up and create confidence again in sports and to insure the people."

The conference faculty representatives also revised the Big Ten's controversial financial aid plan to athletes, but they did not eliminate the "need" proviso in the present program which has been in effect for four years.

Soviets 'Milking' Satellites Of Paper-Making Facilities

Russians Have Taken Over Firms With Highly Advanced Machines

WISCONSIN RAPIDS—The So-3,389,000 tons. That is roughly the production figure for Wisconsin as a country which is milked in paper manufacturing alone. ing its satellites — at least as The entire U.S. produces almost far as paper manufacturing is 35 million tons per year.

He said Soviet pulp and paper production generally is in an embryo state the facilities the Russians have taken over in other countries are much more advanced. Albert W. Wilson, editor of Pulp & Paper Magazine said at the annual meeting of the Wisconsin Paper Industry Institute in Wisconsin Rapids. About 60 state paper manufacturing executives attended.

Wilson cited Czechoslovakia, Poland and parts of Finland as examples of such Soviet satellite states. The Soviets "took over the heart of the Finnish industry," he said.

Recovering Strongly But the part of the Finnish paper industry which remained independent is recovering strongly, and shows perhaps the greatest potential in Europe, Wilson added. "It is a tough, re-processed paper producing nation which is going after mass markets," he declared.

Wilson said England and West Germany were making the strongest bids of Western Europe in the competitive market. "England especially is very advanced technically," he said. "Their papers in many ways are superior to those of America in quality." He said that West Germany has emphasized production rather than quality "but it is rapidly improving standards and can be expected to be tough competition in the future."

Wilson spent more than 12 months of the last two years in European paper communities. Much of this time was spent in Russia.

Far Behind He said the Russians admit they are far behind the United States, and other European countries, in the pulp and paper field but are confident they can catch up. He said overall pulp and paper production in the USSR is roughly a tenth of that in the United States. The average Russian, he added, uses only 32 pounds per year of paper compared with per capita consumption in the United States of about 455 pounds.

But he noted that, while the various consumer tissues, wrappings and packages so widely used in this country are virtually nonexistent in Russia. "It seems almost every Russian is reading something — books, periodicals, pamphlets," he said. This type of reading appeared to be much more prevalent than in the U.S.

He said the Russians attempt to increase paper production, are "buying equipment right and left — ordering as many as three or four machines at a time, mostly from Sweden, Britain and Austria."

Little Progress However, he said the Russians still have made little progress. In 1958, he said, Soviet paper production was 3,250,000 tons. By 1959, it had increased to only 3,389,000 tons.

Automation to Play Increased Role in Safety

1,000 Delegates at Annual Conference In Green Bay Arena

Post-Crescent News Service
GREEN BAY — A prediction that automation will assume an increasing role in the field of industrial and home safety was made this morning by Robert T. Ross, manager of the employee program department of the Ford Motor Co.

Ross spoke before about 1,000 delegates to the 33rd annual Fox River Valley and Lake Shore Safety Conference at the Veterans Memorial Arena.

Defining automation as technological progress, Ross said it is "the search for ways of doing things better, doing them more efficiently and doing them more effectively."

Ross said that automation will be used increasingly in air traffic control and supervision.

More Aircraft He also predicted that automation will be used in advanced electronic military systems, for dozens of household uses and for thousands of problems requiring faster and safer operation.

Ross said automation will also be required in automobile transportation in both the car and the highway.

He said the auto industry is now studying experimental proximity warning systems using infrared light, sound waves and radio beams.

Safety Activity "In almost every important area, automation is a part of tomorrow's safety activity," he said.

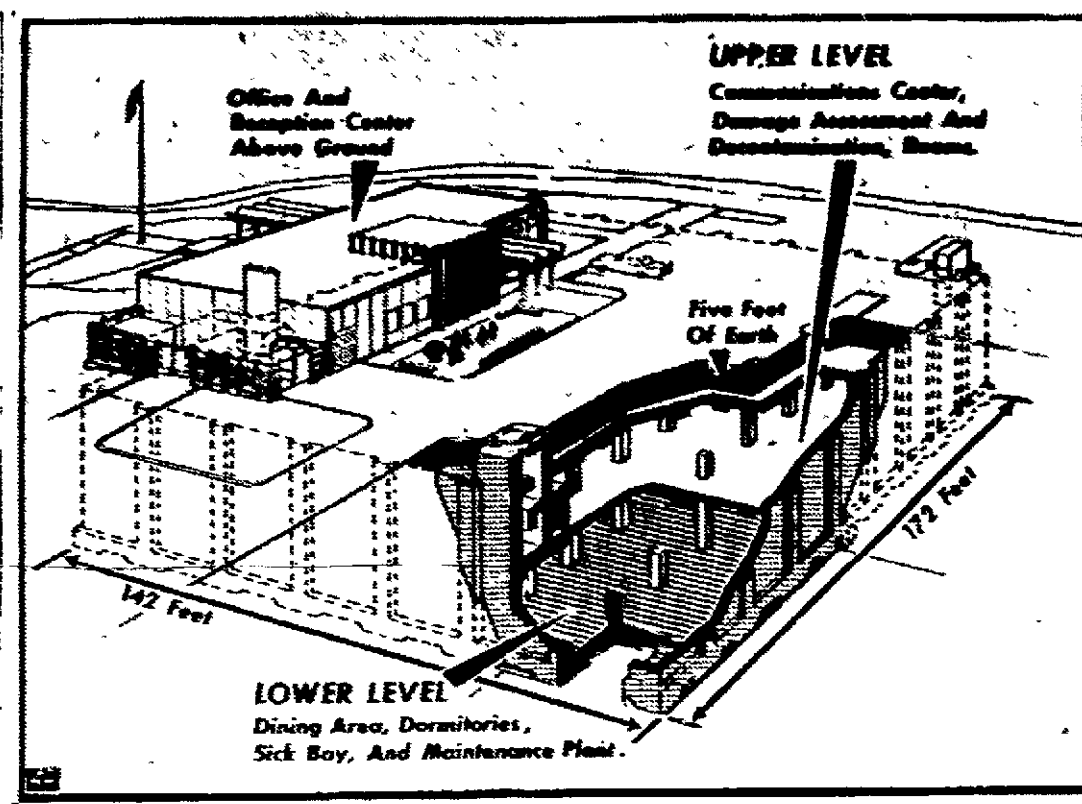

Speaking directly to the industrial safety directors, Ross said "Coupled with an understanding of automatic systems is the need to understand the broader importance of automated equipment itself."

He said that personnel who work with automated equipment often do not realize how vital their part of the operation is.

"Paradoxical as it may sound, automated equipment demands as much of an operator as do other kinds of equipment."

Ross said automation in industry has reduced heavy physical work, produced greater speed and efficiency and contributed to higher standards of mass production quality.

New Standard "It has also given us a new standard of safety. This is largely left the continent in 1937 when his academic career at the University of Munich was cut off by Nazism. He has been at Lawrence since 1941.

It will cost approximately $2.5 million.

Pesticides Useful but Care Must be Taken

Speaker at Safety Conference Urges Proper Use of Chemicals for Results

BY RAY PAGEL
Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — Pesticides are a useful tool for the farmer, but they must be treated with the same respect as a buzz saw.

That summarizes the discussion on agricultural chemicals here Thursday by Donald Peterson, a University of Wisconsin agronomy specialist. He spoke at one of the sectional meetings of the Fox River Valley and Lake Shore Safety Conference.

Safe operation of farm machinery, on the highway and in the field, was covered by Randall C. Swanson, farm safety specialist at the university.

Bad Publicity "We have had a lot of bad publicity about the use of pesticides," Peterson noted. "The cranberry incident of nearly two years ago is a well-remembered example."

"But if we had no chemical pesticides our standard of living would be considerably lower. It would be impossible to produce some foods without pesticides to keep insects and other pests within bounds."

Peterson identified a pesticide as an all-inclusive term to cover chemicals used for the control or eradication of undesirable pests.

the case because automation at its best builds in safety."

Ross concluded his address by saying "We can do ourselves, our employees and American industry a real service by pointing out the potential for safety that is inherent in automation."

Earlier in the program Lynn Surles of Milwaukee instructed the delegates in proper communication in safety, giving the delegates a short course in public speaking. Surles, who is one of the midwest's noted safety experts, said "Communication of an idea is the basis for plant safety."

The parade will go from Pierce Park along Prospect Avenue, Memorial Drive, Seymour Street, S. Oneida Street and E. South River Street to Teuloh Park, and then along College Avenue to Madison Street and back to Pierce Park.

Horseless Carriage Club of America is dedicated to the preservation of ancient motor vehicles of historical value, their accessories, archives and romantic lore.

Fight Increase In Postal Rates For Papers

Publishers Against Subsidy, but Feel Accounting Needed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Newspaper Publishers Association today opposed postal rate increases sought by the administration.

The association told the House Post Office Committee "daily newspapers want no subsidy from the government in any form" but feel that fair rates can be set only after a realistic accounting of the public service work performed (free or below cost by the mail service).

ANPA's position was set out in a statement filed with the committee by Ralph Nicholson, publisher of the Dothan (Ala.) Eagle and chairman of the association's postal committee.

Oppose Increase Spokesmen for several other associations of daily and weekly newspapers advanced similar arguments. They submitted figures intended to show that the proposed increases in second-class postal rates, estimated to average 79 per cent, would work out to five- or six-fold increases in postal costs of some individual publications.

On the issue of services performed, Richard E. Morrison, NBC's "Sing Along with Mitch" series is over for the season, but the Sing Along production company is working harder than ever—getting a backlog of next season's once-a-week programs on tape.

speaking for the Inland Daily Press Association, said the Billings (Mont.) Gazette using truck delivery to post offices during 1960 spent $23,838 "for service originally furnished by the post office" and still paid its full postal bill. Morrison is general manager of Lee Newspapers, publishers of the Gazette and other Montana newspapers.

Reject Philosophy Guy Easterly, vice president of the National Editorial Association and publisher of the Weekly Press at LaFollette, Tenn., urged the committee to reject the philosophy that "the post office is a business, history makes clear that the post office shall be established as a service to the public, just as military forces are maintained for the people," he said. "Nobody worries about the 'Army deficit' or the 'Navy deficit.' NEA's position is that the service is worth what it costs the public."

E. C. Haybow, publisher of the Hillsdale (Mich.) News and also a spokesman for the Inland Daily Press Association, accused the Post Office Department of failing "to list properly its public service costs" and said the result was "to greatly overstate the amount of the postal deficit chargeable to second-class mail."

4-Point Plan Given To Combat Pesticides

Dairy Technology Society Hears
Madison Chemist Discuss Problems

A four-point program to help in foods and vegetables, he said, but combating pesticides in dairy and work of the Food and Drug Administration has helped in combating problems that exist.

Cites Test

Birdsall cited a test conducted in the dairy industry in 1955 among 50 samples of milk in 16 areas of the nation where 62 per cent of the samples showed pesticides present in the product. A program was instituted to stop misuse of DDT, and in a second test in 1958 only 2.5 per cent of the milk sampled showed positive signs of residues from pesticides. Another test is now in progress, he said.

A weiner roast is planned for the June 5 meeting of Northport 4-H Club at the Kenneth Everts home.

A talk was given and poster on safety demonstrated by Wayne Sofia at the last meeting. Bruce Joos gave a first aid demonstration.

The problem of pesticides in foods and dairy products can come from many sources, Birdsall said. He suggested dairy plant operators keep their plants sanitary and follow recommended treatments carefully.

ADA Program

Dairy Product Consumption Higher Despite Competition

HILBERT—Despite keen competition from substitutes, there has been an overall increase in dairy product consumption fat milk compared with 2.2 pounds during the last 10 years. Calumet 10 years ago.

County dairy plant operators learned at a meeting where they discussed the American Dairy Association's four-point program. Consumption of other dairy products which increased during the last decade are frozen deserts, 10.3 quarts to 19.7 quarts; State fieldman Dave Albrecht cheese, six pounds to eight and Dwaine Dickinson, assistant manager, said the average American consumes 297 pounds of milk each year compared with 265 pounds 10 years ago. His ice

Most seriously affected by competition is butter. Its consumption rate dropped from 17 pounds per capita annually to eight pounds at the present time.

Advertising, research, merchandising and public relations comprise the ADA work, with advertising as the key. The dairy organization spends $6,250,000 annually for advertising or 66 per cent of its total budget. Brewers spend about $165 million annually for advertising. It was pointed out at the meeting to establish a comparison.

Other officers elected are Mike Balke, vice president; Bill Klegin, secretary; Douglas Glocke, Earl Lintner, Chilton, District treasurer; Ronald Lorge, Sentinel, ADA committeeman, said the individual dairyman has the biggest stake in the industry, 95 per cent.

William Shaw is the faculty advisor.

Rain Most Welcome to Forest Ranger

Waupaca Area
Plagued With Fires
During Dry Spell

WAUPACA — While the rain Sunday and Monday was a welcome relief for many area farmers, it was probably most appreciated by Sidney Miller, forest ranger.

Miller has been putting in a lot of hectic time since the dry weather arrived. He has been chasing from one end of the county to the other fighting forest fires in almost all conditions.

Saturday afternoon Miller was called to the Weyauwega area to fight a fire on the Walter Radtke property. It burned more than an acre of white pine before it was put out. Members of the Weyauwega and South of Royalton Fire Departments were called in to put out the blaze.

Another fire Thursday in the Manawa area started from the city dump and jumped across County BB, going east on State 22. It burned about eight acres of hardwood, and the Conservation Department's heavy equipment, including caterpillars and fire plows were needed to curb the blaze.

Judging Contest Set at Shawano

SHAWANO — A demonstration and judging contest of beef will be Saturday at the Harold Volland farm starting at 1 p.m. A meeting on judging sheep and pigs is planned at a later date for 4-H Club members.

A team of four judges will be picked Saturday to enter the state judging contest at Madison July 13.

The Shawano Jaycees have invited 4-H automotive project members to enter the safe driving Road-e-o at the high school parking lot Sunday.

There will be a meeting of all members and leaders in the light horse project at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the courthouse.

Hay Acreage Loss Estimated At 7 Per Cent

Killing More Than Reported Last Year
With Snow Cover

Wisconsin farmers lost about 7 per cent of their hay acreage from winter-killing, according to the general crop report for May issued by the Wisconsin Crop Reporting Service.

This loss was a little more than reported last year, but winter-killing probably was not excessive considering the little snow cover over much of the state during the past winter.

Seedings Good

Farmers in the state were behind schedule in the plowing and seeding again this year, although for the state as a whole more field work was accomplished than by May 1 last year. Farmers had 48 per cent of their spring grain in by May 1 this year compared with only 36 per cent a year ago and treasurer.

and 80 per cent usually in by May 1. Thirty-three per cent of the acreage plowed for corn was accomplished by May 1 compared with only 20 per cent a year ago and the usual 45 per cent. However, since the first of the month farmers have made great headway with their field work. New seedings have come through the winter in good condition although the condition figures of 88 per cent of normal for May 1 for alfalfa and 84 per cent for clover and timothy are a little below a year ago.

Pasture conditions on May 1 for the state as a whole averaged 83 per cent of normal and were somewhat below the average of recent years. Rye is making a better showing than a year ago and the condition of the crop is above average for May 1. The pasture season will begin with farm stocks of hay estimated at more than 2½ million tons, up 27 per cent from early in May last year.

Custom Rates Used as Guide In Farm Work

A series of average rates for custom farm work have been published by the state.

Fox Cities area county agricultural agents often are questioned as to what rates are or should be.

Orrin Meyer, Calumet County agent, published the state list recently as a guide for farmers. He warned farmers to have a rate agreement before work is started.

Averages for last year were: Plowing with two bottoms, $3.25 an acre; plowing with three bottoms, $3.50 an acre; discing, $1.80 an acre; quack digging, $1.85 an acre.

Cultivating, $1.30 an acre; grain drilling with fertilizer, $1.65 an acre; grain drilling without fertilizer, $1.40 an acre; corn planting with two rows, $1.65 an acre; corn planting with three rows, $1.75 an acre.

Cultivating with two rows, $1.55 an acre; cultivating with four rows, $1.75 an acre; weed spraying, $1.50 an acre; and spraying fruit trees, 45 cents each.

Farm Bureau Okays New Cooperative

The Wisconsin Farm Bureau board of directors has approved articles of incorporation and by-laws of the Farm Bureau's new Wisconsin Agricultural Marketing Cooperative.

The organization is set up primarily for cooperatively marketing agricultural products of its members and other producers, acting as bargaining agent for its members in the sale or contracting for sale of agricultural products pursuant to marketing contracts between the cooperative and its members, engaging in the processing of such products and engaging in research and disseminating information regarding such bargaining and marketing functions.

724 Farmers Join Feed Grain Plan in County

Some 724 farmers in Outagamie County have signed for the feed grain program and will divert 13,600 acres of corn under the Agriculture Conservation Stabilization plan.

Of these farmers, 50 per cent have asked for the advance payments available under the plan. The payments will total about $193,000, Joe Rickert, ASC office manager said. He said if all farmers stay in the program, total payments will go as high as $150,000.

About 27 per cent of the county's farmers have signed up and will divert about 25 per cent of the 65,230 acres planted to corn.

Rickert has asked farmers who already have planted corn to check into the program because they still may be able to benefit. The program sign up has been extended to May 26.

Conservationists Fight Coordinator

Soil Groups Believe Agency
Head Would be Wasteful Post

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Local soil conservation district supervisors have descended upon the legislature to protest what they regard as a threat to their jurisdiction and right in the natural resources conservation field.

They told the assembly state affairs committee that a bill to set up a state water resources coordinator would be wasteful and futile, and that the state already has such a coordinating agency in the Natural Resources Committee of State Agencies.

The solid and influential opposition of the county soil and water conservation district officers was apparently the sign of imminent doom for the bill sponsored by Victor Wallin, former assemblyman from Ashland and Bayfield counties, who for several years has directed a one-man crusade for better integration of the numerous state conservation and water protection agencies.

Wallin complained that although there are at least six major conservation agencies entrusted with some water conservation duties, his own district with its erosion and dangerously silted streams is proof that the necessary job is not being done. He pictured the coordinator as an official who would be part policeman, part diplomat and who would work directly as an agent of the state legislature.

But the district conservation men replied that the six agencies have already in effect an agreement about collaboration, and that a single official in the state capitol would be of little effect in the conservation job.

New Name

"He would have to be more of a miracle man than the president, for he would have more work than President Kennedy," scoffed Ed MacKenzie, chairman of the Polk county board.

(The county soil conservation districts are now called "soil and water conservation districts," by an act of the legislature which became effective recently. In some sections of the state they are now actively promoting watershed conservation plans with the assistance of new federal government grants-in-aid.)

New Feature Set for 4-H

Club Week Plans
Include 9 Interest
Areas for Youth

Some 1,000 rural youth from Wisconsin and the Fox Cities area will get an intimate look at research and teaching programs during 4-H Club Week at the University of Wisconsin June 13-16.

The new feature of 4-H Club Week will be presented by staff members Thursday afternoon June 15. Youths will have a chance to hear about nine major areas covering developments of interest to both men and women.

One group will tell the story of "From Hoof to Table". Specialists in meats and nutrition will conduct the session which will be held in the University Meats Laboratory.

Other sessions include — The Cow and the Chicken; The Plants About Us; From Wishbook to Reality; The Wealth About Us; Have Words, Will Travel; The World About Us; Living is Big Business and The People About Us.

The sessions are designed to tell the youths about new developments, but also to give them ideas about future career possibilities. They are under the general direction of Glenn Barquest, agricultural engineer, and Joan Engle, assistant state home demonstration leader at the University.

New Weapon Okayed For Use on Face Fly

Paint-on DDVP Syrup Brushed on Cow's Head to Attract, Kill Pests

A new weapon has been applied by the repellents, residual sprays proved by the USDA for fighting and baits. the face fly — the pest that looks like the dairyman's biggest headache for the coming summer.

The new weapon is a 2 per cent DDVP syrup that is painted down the cow's "face," from her poll to within "licking distance" of her nose.

DDVP is a bait which attracts the face flies and kills them. The face fly doesn't actually bite cows — it just clusters around the eyes and bothers them enough to lower milk production.

Tried in Illinois Dairy farmers and beef ranchers tried fighting off this new pest last summer with all of the standard fly weapons, particular-

DDVP and corn syrup mixture eyes and won't be so tasty to last fall, and the cattle licked it right off each other.

To help avoid these drawbacks, it has been suggested that instead of syrup you can use a white oil that won't burn cows' something to remember.

Delegate Picked For Club Week

FREMONT — Lois Otto, route 2, Fremont, was chosen as a delegate by the members of the Wolf River 4-H Club to represent them at state club week at Madison June 13 through 16.

Altar flower donations were made to the St. Peter Paul Catholic Church, Weyauwega, St. John Lutheran, St. Paul Lutheran and Hope United Church of Christ, all of Fremont on rural life Sunday.

Planning the June 12 meeting will be James Freer, Gregg Freer and Eugene Greening with Edith Zickuhr, speaker, and Gaylen Barz offering a demonstration.

Meanwhile, insect control specialists with USDA say these are wrinkles they hope to iron out.

For this spring, USDA researchers say, the paint-on baits, plus the old standby pyrethrins and synergists as repellents are the farmer's best bets.

Members Give Talks

Talks were given by Joan Mastey and Linda Burmeister at a meeting of Nichols North Star 4-H Club.

Lucille Friemuth, Sharon Peeters, Carol Friemuth and Laurene Brugger will take younger club members to Rural Youth Day at Appleton.

Only a properly fed pullet can become a good hen. And productive egg-laying organs start developing early. This is why a good pullet growing program is essential.

Come in and see us about your pullet growing program. Whatever your grain situation—long or short—we'd like to help you grow the best pullets possible, and get a more profitable laying flock.

Society Hears Of Pesticides

problem because he uses pesticides on his animals and crops. All practices of farmers should be under scrutiny of the dairy plant and fieldmen, he said. He recommended that farmers follow directions carefully when using pesticides.

Another problem area is the use of pesticides by a neighbor, Birdsall said.

It is important, he declared, to know what kind of pesticide and when the neighbor is using it. Wind and water can carry the chemical and it will spread on nearby fields.

Birdsall also suggested farmers know where their purchased feeds are coming from and learn what pesticides and chemicals are used in the area the feed came from. These chemicals can be transmitted to the animal from the feed, he said.

We can pinpoint problems with chemicals only by knowing the possible sources, he said. He suggested tests of a dairy plant's highest fat product every month or every other month from pool supplies. If residues are found, he said, the tests should be run on the bulk tanks of individual farmers.

Crop Members Sow Oat Test Variety Plots

Members of the club attended special rural life Sunday masses at St. Nicholas Catholic Church, Freedom, last Sunday.

Club members have constructed a backstop for the baseball team, managed by Floyd Van Vreede and coached by Roger Green.

There will be a tour of Farmers and Merchants Bank at 8:30 p.m. Friday.

New Testing Rates Expected for DHIA

Members to Discuss Proposal at Annual Calumet County Meeting

CHILTON — New testing rates will be set at the annual meeting June 5 of the Calumet County Dairy Herd Improvement Association at Heller's Hall, Brant.

Existing owner - sampler rates are $1.67 per month for the first 10 cows and 15 cents per month for each animal thereafter or if the records are kept in book form the rate is $2 for the first 10 animals and 17 cents for each cow thereafter. Under the owner sampler system, the herdsman takes the samples and submits them to the testing laboratory.

Standard or official tests with the samples taken by a DHIA fieldman costs the dairyman $6 per month for the first 10 animals and 20 cents for each animal thereafter.

The proposed new rates though unannounced, are expected to be slightly higher.

Also on the annual meeting agenda is a panel discussion of IBM records and election of two new directors. Directors whose terms expired are Herb Schoen and Donald Morgan. Both have served two terms on the board and are no longer eligible for re-election. Holdover directors are Adelbert Kees, Howard Sattler and Leonard Woelfel.

The IBM panel will consider the advantages and disadvantages of machine records. Many testing associations have switched over completely to machine records. It is on a voluntary basis in Calumet County where about 15 per cent of the DHIA herdsman use IBM records.

Co-op Supports Amendments for 10 Milk Orders

FOND DU LAC—In response to a government announcement of a joint hearing to amend manufactured milk prices in 10 federal milk orders that regulate sales in the northeastern part of the United States, Pure Milk Products Co-operative, Fond du Lac, Monday filed a formal statement with Sec. of Agriculture Orville Freeman in Washington.

"We are supported in our request by various dairy farmer groups and general farm organizations and several Wisconsin manufacturers of evaporated and powdered milk and butter," PMPC General Manager William C. Eckles said.

Order amendments are needed because of the large amount of "cheap" grade A milk sold annually under the Northeast area orders for use in manufactured milk products. These prices have been far below ungraded manufactured prices, the co-op's statement said.

"Though transportation costs from the midwest as an area of alternate supplies has always been used to explain higher eastern class I prices, no such allowance is made for the cost of transporting finished manufactured dairy products in arriving at prices for manufacturing milk," Eckles' statement continues.

This cheap milk permits eastern handlers to undercut the prices of high quality midwest manufactures and forces Wisconsin and Minnesota milk into price support channels. As a result a number of Wisconsin plants have been forced to convert their operations to the manufacture of products that can be sold only to the government under the dairy price support program.

"We urge immediate consideration of our proposal to amend the north-eastern milk orders and raise the price of surplus grade A milk used in manufactured dairy products," Eckles concluded.

Fifteen young bulls will be sold at the University of Wisconsin Branch Agricultural Experiment Station just south of Hancock June 1.

This is the fourth year that bulls have been sold under a project to test their production performance. The project is a long-range one to find out how well the animals pass on their marks of quality to their offspring.

Buyers will get complete records on the young bull's ability to gain and on other marks of quality. Buyers agree to sell some of the offspring back to the University for further quality testing.

The bull sale will start at 1:30 p.m. A morning program starting at 10:45 a.m. will feature discussions on nitrate problems in

363 Farmers File for Grain Diversion Plan

4,964.3 Acres of Corn Taken Out of Waupaca Production

MANAWA — About 363 farms in Waupaca County have filed forms indicating their intention to participate in the 1961 feed grain program. Martin B. Thorson, chairman, Waupaca County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, reported.

In an effort to increase farm income and to stop the buildup of feed grain supplies, the program provides special payments to corn and grain sorghum producers who agree to divert a portion of the acreage formerly planted to these two crops to an approved conservation use.

While the program is voluntary, corn and grain sorghum producers will not be eligible for price support on any of their 1961 feed grain crops unless they cooperate in the feed grain program.

Corn Diverted

The chairman said 4,964.3 acres of corn on the "participating" farms have been signed up for diversion to conservation use.

The farms have 1959-60 base acreages totalling 8,533.5 acres for corn. The minimum and maximum diversions for a particular farm are calculated from its 1959-60 base acreage.

Payment Plan

Negotiable certificates to be issued as payments for these diversions have a total value of $63,704. These certificates are redeemable either in feed grains or in the cash equivalent. Up to half the total payment to be earned on a farm under the feed grain program may be made in advance if the farmer requests it.

Corn and grain sorghum farmers in the county who are interested in the program but who have not yet filed an "intention to participate" form can contact their county ASC office.

Potato Virus Being Studied By UW Scientists

A disease producing virus that attacks potatoes, called potato virus F, has been studied and described in detail by University of Wisconsin plant scientists.

Seven of the virus samples isolated in the United States, caused infection in potatoes. But the researchers discovered that all these virus samples infected both crimson and subterranean clovers.

The virus builds up high concentrations in these clovers and apparently survives for the lifetime of the plants. Thus stray clover plants growing in potato fields may explain how this virus disease suddenly shows up in potatoes.

Certain species of wild potatoes found in the highlands of South America are resistant to virus F. This information is a lot of help for plant breeders who now may be able to use these plants as parent stock in breeding new, virus resistant potato varieties.

Potatoes Differ Widely in Flavor, Texture Depending Upon Variety

Mashed potatoes are often several varieties and use different food services let price determine the variety purchased.

That's what Grace Landon and Beatrice Donaldson, University of Wisconsin home economists, found in surveying 407 food service establishments serving 50 meals or more a day. They gathered information on buying, preparing, cooking and serving mashed potatoes. Schools, hospitals, restaurants, college residence halls and unions were included in the study.

Uniform Potatoes

Three-fourths of the food service managers said they were most interested in getting potatoes with good mashing quality. About one-third of the food services bought the varieties which were most available. An equal number considered grade to be an important factor. Only 20 per cent of the

More than half of the food services indicated they would be willing to pay more for potatoes of uniform quality and size because they use mechanical peelers.

The only graded potatoes on the market are U.S. No. 1. Even when graded they are not very uniform in size. Seventy-six per cent of the food services were purchasing graded No. 1's.

Sebago and Chippewa, Wisconsin - grown varieties, were the most popular for mashing purposes when all of the food services were considered together. They were purchased by half of all of the establishments. However, restaurants said they purchased more Idaho Russet Burbanks for mashing. Part of the reason for high purchases of Idaho Russet Burbanks by restaurants could be due to a tendency to buy one variety for all purposes—selecting Idaho potatoes for their consistent quality, white appearance and traditionally good baking qualities. Hospitals also bought a high percentage of Idaho potatoes with Sebago in second place. Colleges used more Chippewa and Idaho Russet Burbanks than any other varieties.

Wisconsin Russet Burbank potatoes are growing in popularity for general home consumption, but are subject to blackening some years and haven't gained large scale recognition yet from quantity food services.

County Agent Opposes Fallowing

CHILTON — Calumet County Agent Orrin Meyer has expressed his opposition to summer fallowing as a soil use diversion for corn land placed under the Freed Grain Program.

Although fallowing is not the only permissible diversion, Meyer said there will no doubt be requests for handling the diverted acres in this manner. Meyer warned against soil losses through water and wind erosion if the land is kept open contrary to the accepted program of keeping land covered.
